FRANCE MUST REVISE DEBT OFFER

MELLON AND BERENGER TO CONFER ANEW

Principal Hitch In Final Settlement Of Big War Obligation Centers Around First Annual Payment--Emphasized Discussions Not Terminated.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—France must revise its new offer for settlement of its war debt to this country, the American debt commission decided today

The decision was reached at the second meeting of the American commission to study the proposal put forward last week by French Ambassador Berenger. Secretary Mellon will confer with the Ambassador before negotiations are resumed.

Although France will be asked to modify its offer, it was emphasizew today by the American commission that the latest discussions have not been terminated.

One of the principal hitches is how much France shall pay at the outset. M. Beranger proposed initial payment of $25,000,000 annually, but the commission is understood to desire higher first payments.

The commission hopes to work out an agreement on a trading basis without formally submitting a counter proposal pending submission by the French ambassador of a new offer.

The negotiations do not depend on the controversial safety clause which would relieve France of its debt responsibilities in the event of failure of Germany to meet its reparations payments. The American debt commission has expressed itself firmly against this and Ambassador Beranger is not expected to insist on such a guarantee.

French Approval Probable.

PARIS, April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—The finance committee of the chamber of deputies generally approved Ambassador Beranger's tactics in the debt funding negotiations at Washington after Premier Briand and Finance Minister Peret had explained the situation this afternoon. Consequently, it is learned, the final accord with the United States will find a favorable majority in the committee.

To Begin Paying British.

LONDON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—France will begin to pay her war debt to Europe during the present British fiscal year. This was one outstanding anouncement made by Chancellor of the Exchequer Winston Churchill today in presenting the budget to the house of commons. France's initial payment will be L 4,000,000.

Mr. Churchill stated that he had

NINE ARRESTS IN ROBBER ROUNDUP

At Least Fifteen Cases of Banditry in Omaha Accounted For.

OMAHA, April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Nine men and boys are in jail in a week-end clean-up of alleged highwaymen and store bandits.

More than 15 recent Omaha robberies are believed to be accounted for and seven men already have been formally charged with highway robbery.

Those held include George and Russell Philbrook and Ralph Anderson of Florence; Gus Sacks, believed to be one of the "drunken bandits" whose menacing tactics unnerved victims; Bud Potter and Clarence Foster, the latter but 15 years old; Robert Williams, Council Bluffs, who has admitted robbing a pawnshop; Albert Maines and Clifford Jack, accused of at least six robberies.

The nine men are believed to have been working here for the past ten days.

Williams was a parole violator, Inspector Dunbaum of police said today

State Intervenes In a Rate Case

Permission for the Nebraska railway commission to intervene on behalf of consumers of slack coal in this territory, in the complaint brought by Illinois coal mining interests demanding lower rates to states west of the Mississippi river to put them on an equality with Kansas, Oklahoma, and Arkansas producers, has been granted by the interstate commerce commission. No date for hearing has been set.

The state commission and Nebraska consumers are not opposed to a reduction of rates from the Illinois field, should one be ordered; but they are decidedly against any so-called "equalization" which might be undertaken by advancing rates from the south.

Belgian Debt Plan Ratified

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Belgian war debt agreement was approved today by the senate.

The vote was 55 to 20. The agreement comes into force as soon as President Coolidge signs the bill of ratification, which already has been approved by the house.

Defeat Howell Amendments.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Howell amendments to the Belgian debt settlement, providing for the issuance of interest bearing bonds by Belgium to cover the indebtedness at the request of the secretary of the treasury, were rejected today by the senat.

The vote was 21 to 52. It indicated that the debt agreement would be ratified.

MRS. N. C. BROCK TAKEN BY DEATH

Lincoln Pioneer, Mother of Mrs. George J. Woods. Passes Away Monday.

Mrs. Rachel Shelden Brock, widow of Nelson C. Brock, died at 10:50 a. m. Monday at her home, 1429 E street. She and Mr. Brock came to Lincoln in 1870, soon after their marriage at her home at Deposit, N. Y., making the trip by railroad to St. Joseph and then by boat and stage coach to Lincoln.

Mrs. Brock was born March 17, 1844 and was graduated from the Franklin Seminary at Franklin, N. Y. She met Mr. Brock when she came to Nebraska City to visit a sister, Mrs. E. S. Hawley, in 1868.

Mr. Brock, with his uncle, James Sweet operated a bank at Nebraska City, and later were founders of Lincoln's first bank, known as the Sweet and Brock bank.

Mr. Brock died in March five years ago.

Mrs. Brock was a member of St. Paul M. E. church. She had been an invalid for the past sixteen years

She leaves one daughter, Mrs. George J. Woods of Lincoln.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

Nebraska Alumni of Missouri School to Hold Banquet

The annual banquet of the Nebraska Alumni association of Central Wesleyan college at Warrenton, Mo., will be held April 30 at 6:30 o'clock at the Grand hotel. All former students of Cenral Wesleyan, Enterprise Kansas Normal academy and Mt. Pleasant college, at Mt. Pleasant, Ia., are invited to attend.

Pres. Ira N. Chiles of Central Wesleyan will be present at the banquet. A program of readings, music and toasts will be given. Officers of the alumni association are: Miss Lottie Hains, Lincoln, president; Prof. O. H. Werner, Lincoln, vice president; Mrs. Oscar Hackman, Lincoln, secretary-treasurer.

County Board Cannot Remit Delinquent Tax

Delinquent taxes with interest, amounting to $167, must be paid to Lancaster county by the owners of lots 2 and 3 in block 54, the ground on which the Terminal building now stands, according to an opinion given by Assistant Attorney General G. W. Ayers at the request of County Attorney Matson. The taxes were levied for the years 1874, 1878, and 1880. The total amount of the original levies was $29, but the interest at ten per cent that has been accumulating has raised that amount to $167.

Mr. Ayres finds that the county board has no authority to release or remit any part of such tax.

PLAN CLEANUP MOONSHINERS

Tennessee Authorities to Launch "War to the End" On Liquor Makers Who Killed Thomas Evans, Farmer Vigilante.

"CLAN" ISSUES DEATH EDICT FOR 7 OTHERS

Baptist Pastor Tells 2,000 Citizens at Mass Meeting Hopes Slaying Will "Prove Calvary to Save the Country."

PARIS, Tenn., April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Tense quiet prevails over the hills of northeastern Henry county early today as state authorities planned a war to the end" on moonshining.

An offensive is being planned that officials hope will end the state of terror over the hills when word came down from the moonshine clan Friday that death would stalk seven other men if an arrest was made for the slaying of Thomas Evans on Sunday, April 18.

Federal aid will be sought, District Attorney General G. N. Sherrod, who came yesterday to direct the drives, announced last night, but said no request for state troops would be made at this time

State officials were in conference here yesterday, but it will be a day or two before they are ready to launch their drive against the moonshiners' stronghold.

More than two thousand citizens gathered at a mass meeting last nudnight and pledged their support in a drive for law enforcement and the apprehension of Evans' slayers. The meeting was caller by the Rev. John H. Buchanan, pastor of the First Baptist church, who in addressing the citizens made a plea for moral as well as financial support in the campaign.

Minister Is Hopeful.

"I am hoping that this man's death shall prove a Calvary to save the country," said the Rev. Mr Buchanan, in speaking of Evans' death.

He said that there were twelve men in the moonshine district who are willing to stand "four square for the dry crusade. There are about twenty-five men, and I can name them for you, who have banded themselves together to promulgate liquor."

No arrests have been made in connection with the Evans slaying. A $1,000 reward was offered for the apprehension of those slaying him, and Friday the moonshine clan sent down their edict of death for seven others, causing them to flee the territory. Officers said they would continue investigations locally for a day or two before entering the district where the slaying occurred.

After the mass meeting last night a fund of $1,500 to help pay off the mortgage on the Evans farm was raised for the widow.

Grain Exchange In Omaha Closes Honor Cochrane

OMAHA, April 26.—(AP)—The Omaha grain exchange was closed for half an hour today in memory of M. W. Cochrane, a member, who died suddenly Saturday night of heart disease.

Funeral services for Mr. Cochrane were this afternoon. Burial will be in St. Louis.

Mr. Cochrane was manager of the grain commission department of the Omaha Consolidated mills. He was president of the St. Louis Merchants' exchange at one time and in his early life was in the grain business at Wilber, Neb. He is survived by his widow and one daughter. A sister is Mrs. Frank Woods of Lincoln.

Four "Mad Dog" Calls Sunday to Humane Society

A mad dog is an unknown quantity at this time of the year. Superintendent McClain of the Humane society said, Monday after having been called Sunday to care for four such cases. Dogs are subject to indigestion in the spring and this is almost always the trouble with those reported as "mad."

Work at the new shelter at Hatch street and Park boulevard is moving rapidly. Before the building can be completed, however, Mr. McClain said, it will be necessary to raise about $4,000.

Haning Charged With Gun Toting

McCOOK, Neb., April 26.— Earl Haning, former prohibition agent at Lincoln, pleaded not guilty here today when arraigned in district court for carrying concealed weapons.

Haning, under eighteen months sentence in Leavenworth prison for conspiracy to violate the national prohibition laws was arrested here March 20 by local police while obtaining gasoline. Police recognized him and searched him, finding a pistol in his possession, it is alleged.

TO OFFICIATE WITHOUT PAY

Sixteen Offer Services For Special Election Here May 25.

Council Makes Provision to Widen South and Twelth Streets.

Creation of a number of new paving and sewer districts and amending the zoning ordinance along with the acceptance of an offer of sixteen individuals to serve without pay on election boards for the special election called for May 25 to change the city's financial policy to a mill levy basis, featured the meeting of the city council Monday afternoon.

Twelve of the volunteers are members of the Oberlies class of the First Christian church. One of the other four is a woman, Mrs. S. L. Geisthardt, 512 South Sixteenth street, City Clerk Berg said that 290 officials will be needed.

Those of the Oberlies' class who volunteered are W. L. Playcer, 3310 Washington street; A. M. Newens, 1840 E street; W. C. Miller, 2421 South; H. P. Larsen, 3355 R; C. L. E. Blauser, 3219 Starr; D. S. Dorner, 1500 P; George R. Boorner, 1945 D; G. Ellinger, 2100 D; W. N. Minford, 140 North Thirty-first; Frank P. Corrick, 2608 D; F. A. Good, 2969 P; L. W. Garoutte, Lindell hotel; and Paul Goss, 5720 South; others are J. H. Gleason, 1736 South Twenty-seventh; George G. Hill, 1625 B; and L. Lemen, 1003 J street.

The city clerk announced that he has started making preparations for the election.

To Widen Streets.

Widening of the Twelfth street roadway from 60 to 70 feet between L and R streets, and from 40 to 60 feet from J to L was ordered. The council also passed a resolution authorizing St. Elizabeth's hospital to widen South street on the south side between Eleventh and Thirteenth streets. The street will be cut back to the sidewalk and paved.

New ordinances introduced provide for the paving of Tenth street from Park avenue to Hill street; accepts the plat of Buky subdivision, a half block facing Forty-second street between J and Randolph streets; and create sewer and water districts on Scott avenue from South to Smith. Another establishes grades for paving in Woodshire addition.

The only ordinance on third reading increases the height of buildings in the commercial district to 200 feet. It is an amendment to the zoning ordinance.

The council rejected bids received Saturday for the building of a water main on Fifty-second

BARTOS SERVES TERM IN SECRET

Discharged From Fremont Jail Sunday After Remaining Ten Days.

FREMONT, Neb., April 26.(AP)—Frank Bartos, attorney of Wilber, Neb., expected to begin his ten day sentence at the Dodge county jail imposed in federal court at Lincoln for violation of the prohibition law, has served his sentence and is back home at Wilber. He was released yesterday noon.

Omaha newspapermen seeking to interview Bartos on his expected arrival at Fremont this afternoon were told by Sheriff Johnson that the Wilber lawyer had "been here and gone."

"I had a wonderful time down there," Bartos said today of his time in jail. "I really enjoyed the experience. I was in need of a good vacation and that gave it to me."

Not a single visitor bothered Bartos, he said, not even his closest friends knew he was serving his sentence. To friends, he was "out of town."

Bartos said he called Marshal McClung at Lincoln the morning of April 15, advised him that he was ready to start serving sentence, but wanted to do it secretly and appeared at Lincoln and surrendered. He drove to Fremont with the marshal in his own car and kept the car in a Fremont garage until he drove home in it Sunday afternoon.

Was Kept Secret.

The fact that Bartos was taken to the Dodge county jail April 15 has been kept an absolute secret at the Federal building. Marshal McClung, who took Bartos to jail, was asked this morning if he had heard when Bartos would come in to start serving his sentence. McClung replied that he expected him to be in sometime before two o'clock this afternoon, the time when the second stay of sentence granted Bartos expired.

If was on the same day that the attempt to get a pardon for Bartos from Washington was turned down that Bartos was taken to Fremont. He was not present at the hearing in Federal court on the question of his possible disbarment from practice in Federal court.

New Director

ANDERSON TO BE DIRECTOR

Promoted to Head of Y. M. C. A. Physical Education Department.

O. B. "Andy" Anderson, who has been connected with the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. since 1911, was today elected director of the physical education department, succeeding J. W. Fuhrer, who is to go to St. Louis. The appointment of Anderson becomes effective May 1.

Mr. Anderson has been connected with this department as assistant since he came to the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. from Columbus, except during the World war when he served overseas with the Nebraska hospital unit.

His ability in the work has long been recognized and he holds an A-1 rating in the Y. M. C. A. national rating system. It has been through his efforts that the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. has produced three championship pentathlon teams.

Two assistants in the department are to be appointed but as yet the board has not acted upon this matter.

Rules On Filing Complaint Under Attendance Law

In counties where no juvenile court is provided, complaints alleging violations of the school attendance laws should be filed with the district judge, or in his absence with the county judge, according to an opinion written today by Attorney General O. S. Spillman in reply to an inquiry from Miss Pearl Sewell county superintendent of Wayne county.

Miss Sewell brought up the point that the law requires that such complaints shall be filed with the juvenile court. She pointed out that in Wayne county there is no juvenile court, and for that reason she was puzzled to know where to lodge such a complaint.

Attorney General Spillman also expressed the opinion that should the District court judge interpret the law to mean that such cases should be brought only before a regular juvenile court, and should he refuse to hear such a complaint, then the attendance officer may file the complaint with the county judge.

TROUTON AIDS IN FIRE PREVENTION

State Marshal to Devote Three Days to Lincoln Campaign.

State Fire Marshal John C. Trouton will give three days of his own time to the fire prevention campaign in Lincoln this week, under auspices of the fire prevention committee of the chamber of commerce here and the state fire prevention bureau. Two of his deputies, E. E. Hayduk and Thomas J. Wilson, will also spend three days in Lincoln assisting the local roundup.

Every business building in Lincoln covered by a fire insurance policy is to be inspected during the week according to the program laid out by those in charge.

Conditions that might offer fire hazards will be checked over and pointed out to the owners of buildings, with suggestions for removing them.

President P. E. Welsh and Secretary Lyle of the Omaha bureau will be in Lincoln to direct the inspections.

DAVIS MURDER TRIAL BEGINS

Beaver City Man Accused of Taking Life of First Wife By Administering Poison Appears In Court at McCook.

SELECTION OF JURY BEGUN DURING DAY

Defense Attorney Indicates Supreme Court Holding In Northey Case May Have Influence In This One.

McCOOK, Neb., April 26.— (By the Associated Press.)—Trial of Bert M. Davis of Beaver City, charged with causing the death of his first wife, Blanche, by poison last fall, got underway in District Judge C. E. Eldred's court here this afternoon with an imposing array of legal talent for both the state and defense.

The morning court session was taken up with consideration of the April term's docket which contains about ten criminal cases. Decision to call the Davis case first was made after opposing attorneys told the court they were ready.

The afternoon session began with the selection of a jury. Davis was brought in court in custody of Deputy Sheriff P. Karthouser. He had been to a barber shop and appeared in court with a new suit, white collar and tie. He seemed to have suffered no depression because of his stay in the McCook jail for the past two weeks, but was alert to every move in the courtroom.

Use Federal Courtroom.

The trial will be held in the federal courtroom, which has been turned over for use by the District court until the new Red Willow courthouse is completed.

E. L. Lambe, Beaver City, one of the defense counsel, while not outlining the case, indicated that one of the arguments would be the recent Supreme court decision reversing the conviction and life sentence of Mrs. Arvesta Northey of Sargent for her alleged part in the poisoning of Mrs. Frank Bruner, for which Bruner is now serving a life sentence. Justice Morrissey's opinion, remanding the case for a retrial, points out that the state offered no testimony by persons who saw Mrs. Northey or Bruner purchase the poison alleged to have been used. This, said Lambe, is an important point in the Davis case, which he will present.

Indications this afternoon are that it would take two or three days to select a jury and that the trial will take two weeks.

MEDIC SOCIETY PICKS MEMBERS

Twelve Nebraska Seniors Chosen for Alpha Omega Alpha on Scholarship.

Miriam Albertson of Carleton is First Woman to Receive the Honor.

Twelve new members of the Nebraska chapter Alpha Omega Alpha, national honorary medical fraternity, were chosen this year from the class of 1926 at the Nebraska College of Medicine in Omaha.

They are: Miriam Albertson, Carleton; Walter W. Herrmann, Lincoln; Roland A. Jefferson, Omaha; Lewis A. Koch, Cozad; L. Hugo Lucie, Valparaiso, Chile; Richard H. Overholt, Peru; Donald M. MENACE SEEN IN OLD WORLD PEACE PLANS

Responsible Information In Rome Indicates Italian Dictator Seeks More Colonies To Offset Unfavorable Trade Balance.

BASE Switzerland, April 26. — (By the Associated Press.)—Will a Mussolini imperialism menace the movement for European reconciliation and reconstruction begun at Locarno and, represented permanently by the League of Nations? This is a question which a special correspondent of the Associated Press, who has just left Italy, found agitating many minds there, even transcending in interest the internal situation in which Mussolini is believed to have established undisputed dictatorship and complete mastery of the state.

All responsible information obtained in Rome indicates that Mussolini, realizing that lack of raw material handicaps the country from the very start, wants more colonies, in this respect duplicating the ambitions of the Germans who want the restoration of some of their lost colonies with which to provide additional raw material to feed home industries.

Trade Balance Unfavorable.

Last year Italy's unfavorable trade balance reached eight billion lire. Her imports, chiefly wheat and oil from the United States alone aggregated four billion lire more than her exports to the United States wheat purchases in the United States constitute the biggest adverse item in the Italian trade balance and to offset this Mussolini has launched his spectacular "battle of grain" in which the peasants of the peninsula country are contributing to national solidarity by endeavoring to augment the harvest.

The Roman government, with its extensive merchant marine, hopes to capture the Russian market by the easy access of Italian ships from the Mediterranean to the Black sea and seeks to purchase wheat and oil for Italy at a cost less than it pays to the United States.

The correspondent found in Italian circles scant admiration for the league of nations or for that form of international co-operation for which the league stands. It is generally accepted that Mussolini has produced a nationalistic spirit which leaves little room for the internationalism represented by Geneva.

Claims Italy Preparing.

The Italian war office is declared by the correspondent of the Daily Herald of London, labor organ, to be busily engaged in military preparations. He says he is informed that the Italian army staff has received urgent instructions to have everything prepared for mobilization by June. The correspondent reports intense activity along the Adriatic coast.

From Lugano, on the Swiss-Italian frontier, comes a report of a split among the Italian fascisti. The Berlin Vossische Zeitung correspondent says it is reported that in the eastern provinces of Italy, especially Venice, Udina and Treste, a large army under Roberto Farinacci, who recently left the post of secretary general of the fascist party, is beginning a movement against Mussolini. Severe clashes are already said to have occurred, the news being suppressed by censorship.

Attempt Made To Assassinate Theodore Aubert

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 26.—(AP) — An unsuccessful attempt was made today to assassinate Theodore Aubert, President of the International Anti-bolshevik association.

Ask Rehearing In Injunction Suit

Rehearing of the Omaha & Council Bluffs Street Railway Co.'s injunction suit against the city of Omaha, members of the city council and the city clerk, and of the companian proceeding which it brought against the Boule and Transit Co. to restrain the operation of certain motorbusses within that city, has been asked in briefs filed by the street car company in the office of the state supreme court clerk.

The high court recently reversed the judgment of the Douglas county district court, which issued an injunction, and dismissed the suit. It overruled the company's contention that passenger busses could not be allowed to operate by consent of the council, but only after a franchise for such operation had been submitted to a vote of the people and approved by them.

To permit such competition, the petition for rehearing declares, would diminish the plaintiff's revenue and thus deprive it of its property without compensation.

FARM AID FIGHT BACK IN HOUSE

Tincher Terms Haugen Measure "Direct Subsidy" With No Support.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The protracted fight over farm relief legislation was brought to the house again today by two republican members of the agriculture committee, Chairman Haugen of Iowa, and Representative Tincher of Kansas, who are opposing each other's ideas on the subject.

Mr. Tincher termed Mr. Haugen's bill a "direct subsidy" with no one for it. He also accused middle-western farm organizations of changing front.

The measure, which would stabilize prices with a revolving fund of 375,000,000, appropriated by congress, was defended by Mr. Haugen, who said it was no more a subsidy than the Tincher bill which would appropriate $100,000,000 for loans to farm organizations.

Nebraskan on List of Chaplains Died During World War

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—A bronze tablet bearing the names of eleven army chaplains killed in action or who died of wounds, and of twelve others who died during the World war, will be unveiled May 15 in Arlington national cemetery.

Thirteen denominations are represented in the list and in many cases the records of the chaplains show citations or other official recognition of the valor with which they carried out their missions of mercy and comfort under fire.

Those who died during the war included William J. Willey, Kearney, Neb.

Cummins Offers New Dry Bill To Broaden Power

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(AP)—Blanket authority for the treasury to issue such regulations as it may deem necessary to carry out the national prohibition act was proposed in one of five administration dry bills offered today by Chairman Cummins of the senate judiciary committee, and it immediately brought a chorus of protests from wet members of that branch of congress.

MUSSOLINI MUST USE PATIENCE IN TYROL PROBLEM

Winning to Italy 150,000 People of German Descent Delicate Task.

Banning of Teaching German in Elementary Schools Chief Grienvance.

BASLE, Switzerland, April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Seemingly undisputed master of Italy, Benito Mussolini has in the Italian Tyrol, which before the war was part of Austria, a political problem of so delicate a nature that it will undoubtedly prove a great test of his patience and skill.

In a speech before the chamber of deputies in February Mussolini declared with reference to Brenner Pass that "fascist Italy can, if necessary, carry its colors further beyond its territory, but never lower them." Now, however, he must by tactful policies seek to win over to Italy some 150,000 people of German descent, who dominate a district which Italy calls the Upper Adige, but which the Austrians and Germans call southern Tyrol.

A special correspondent of the Associated Press recently has visited this district and has just returned to Basle. Many persons in the affronted district declare that Mussolini has begun wrong, because contrary to what Austria did to Italian residents of Austrial before the war, Mussolini has banned the teaching of German in the elementary schools throughout an immense area occupied for centuries by what are now German minorities.

When Trent before the war was part of Austria, the Austrian empire permitted Italians who dominated the district to have their own schools with the Italian language, but the Mussolini government vetoed a similar privilege for the Germans, whose main centers are to the north, nearer the new Austrian frontier, and particularly at Bolzano, Merano, Bressanone and Brunico.

This prohibition against teaching German to the younger generation is the chief outcry against Italian rule, for the Germans assert that the attempt to denationalize and de-racialize them is a flagrant violation of the fundamentals of human equality.

The great goal of the German leaders is eventually to force the issue before the league of Nations, believing that as minority populations are cared for by the league they will find at Geneva their best chance of securing redress.

A second complaint against Italian rule is that the Roman government has dismissed the leading German employes in state institutions, like the railroads and postoffices, substituting out and out Italians. A third is that Mussolini has insisted on the Romanization of the names of German minority people, who were Italian in the days of Austrian dominion, but whose names gradually became Germanized.

A fourth change, which weighs heavily, is that Germans have not been given local autonomy in government sufficient to make them happy and useful members of the Italian body politic.

But the main discontent arises over the impression of the German elementary schools, and aided by Innsbruck, Austria, Munich, Bavaria by eager groups of agitators, the local leaders in the new Italian Tyrol are carrying on a determined campaign to obtain revocation of the German tongue.

BELWOOD EDITOR NOW EIGHTY-ONE

Family Reunion In Honor of Birthday of W. H. McGaffin, Sr.

BELLWOOD, Neb., April 26.—Sixty-nine children, grand-children and great grand-children gathered in Bellwood, Sunday to attend a family reunion in honor of the eighty-first birthday of W. H. McGaffin, sr. Out of the seventy-two members of the family only three were unable to be present. They were Mrs. Jay Mahlin, a daughter, and her husband and son. Their absence was forced by illness.

Mr. McGaffin is an old resident of Bellwood and is now serving his forty-first year as editor of the Bellwood Gazette. Although eighty-one years old, he is still active in the management of his paper. He is probably the oldest active newspaper editor in Nebraska.

There are eleven children in the family, thirty-three grand-children, and ten great grand-children. There are eight sons, Robert and James of Omaha; Walter of Bruning; George of York; Fred of Cherokee, Ia.; Joseph of Bellwood; Hugh of Polk, and William H. jr. of David City. The three daughters are Mrs. C. G. Nanikes and Mrs. Ralph Harris of Bellwood, and Mrs. Jay Mahlin of Smithfield.

Major Darwin's Plan. Bad News From Pekin. Shakespeare's Birthday. Why Oxford Loses.

By Arthur Brisbane.

Major Darwin, son of the great scientist, head of the British society that seeks to improve the human race by careful breeding, advocates forbidding more than two children in poor families and forbidding children entirely among the unfit.

The rich, whose doctors tell them how to avoid having children, have few as a rule. But there is no need to worry about dearth of population. Some things divine wisdom puts beyond man's reach.

Major Darwin's plan for limiting poor families to two children would have kept Carlyle, Napoleon, Caruso and many as great out of the world.

Royalty and wealth have their best children at the beginning, while the husband is still interested in the wife.

Poverty has its best children later in life, when the husband learns to respect the wife and relies upon her. The quality of children, unlike that of race horses, and prize dogs, depends on the husband's affection for his wife and her respect for the father of her children.

Disagreeable news from Pekin, yesterday Manchurian soldiers controlling the city drove people from their homes, with unpleasant killing of men and attacks upon women.

The three Changs, leading victorious invaders, cannot control their soldiers, or don't take the trouble.

Pray that western Europe and both Americas may know how to keep out Asiatic invasion. Several times Asia came close to conquering and possessing Europe, when her hordes came afoot and on slow ponies. What they might do with flying machines if they had able leaders, even one man of commanding genius such as Genghis Khan, would not make pleasant reading in future history.

Fortunately Europe possesses air fleets. They might help poor Uncle Sam, burdened with his load of gold, and his sound-asleep statesmen, if the worst happens.

Yesterday in many places was celebrated Shakespeare's 362d birthday, and that should comfort those who believe that children not sent to college miss their chance in life.

Shakespeare's genius would not have survived a modern college course. That fortunately doesn't matter, because in this scientific and industrial age, no Shakespeare could possibly be born.

Such an education as Bacon had in Shakespeare's day, or as Milton had a little later would have destroyed. Shakespeare. It might have made him great in some other way, but there would have been no Shakespeare.

It is impossible to create genius with education, very easy to stunt or destroy it with overeducation or unwise education.

Oxford college has failed miserably in all recent athletic contests, beaten in every event by Cambridge. Wise men decide that Oxford men, richer as a rule, use more automobiles and thus weaken their legs and lower their physical condition.

Something like that was said 1,000 years ago, or earlier, when some Cro-Magnon tribe began riding around on tame buffaloes. The same thing will be said more emphatically 100 years hence when everybody flies for distances exceeding 50 miles. The people will then sigh for "good old automobile days when men got exercise."

Theodore Roosevelt, son of the original, shocks prohibitionists by saying, "It is necessary to check murder, corruption and other evils that follow in the train of prohibition."

He wants the Volstead act repealed or modified, each state allowed to decide for itself what amount of alcohol is harmful. Mr. Roosevelt's attitude is that of many very influential Americans, including three cardinals of the Catholic church.

But there will probably be no important change in the drinking law until after 1928. It may play a most important part in that campaign.

Chauncey Depew, celebrating his 92d birthday, says he hopes and expects to live to 100. If he lives to 100, he will ask for five years more. Cornaro wrote to the cardinal, "I had to live past 90 to realize that the world is beautiful."

Nature was wise when she made the instinct of self-preservation the strongest passion in primitive men. It makes us want to stay indefinitely on this imperfect earth, when there may be places so much better waiting for us.

The Irish are honest people. If they have the money they pay. When De Valera was in America selling bonds of the Irish republic" friends of Ireland bought them with little idea that they would ever be paid. The Irish Free State, considering them a debt of honor of the Irish people, will begin paying them, in full, next April.

A good example to some other countries.

WHEELER HITS AT TACTICS OF WETS

Says They Planned to Use Up Time of Drys In Cross Examination.

Charges Modificationists Asking $300,000 For Coming Campaigns.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Tactics of the wets at the senate prohibition hearing, which closed Saturday, were attacked again Sunday by Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-saloon league who explained in a statement that he refrained from taking the witness stand because of the wets' plan to use up the drys' time by cross examination."

"I planned to take the stand," he said, until it was evident what the wets' plans were, and then the committee in charge of our part of the hearings agreed that we would circumvent them."

Without mentioning Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, who was the wet prosecutor and cross examiner, Mr. Wheeler declared that "as it was, a large part of the drys' time was consumed by filibuster cross examination."

Mr. Wheeler's statement and another by Representative LaGuardia progressive-socialist, New York, served to break the Sunday lull in the wake of the heated course of the hearing. Mr. LaGuardia suggested that Mr. Wheeler be appointed prohibition director, with a staff of officers approved by the "extreme dry advocates," and given until January or February to "do anything they desire to enforce this law."

"I predict," he added, "that they would have to admit that the prohibition law cannot be enforced and must be modified."

Nothing to Conceal.

Asserting that we have nothing to conceal about the league methods or program, Mr. Wheeler said every phase of the organization's political activities were revealed by him in an "admittedly unauthorized cross examination by Congressman Tinkham" before a sub-committee of the house appropriations committee when it was discussing prohibition appropriations.

At that time, he said, he inserted in the record the "indefensible methods of the wets and they have never dared use that testimony of document. "The wet charge that we are now raising one million dollars for the coming congressional primaries and elections is false. I have their letters and literature in which they ask for $300,000 for this identical purpose. We need only inform the people of the record of congressmen. Dry voters do the rest.

"Our opponents have to resort to the old-time costly political methods of saloon days and then get licked to a frazzle just as they did in the recent Illinois primaries."

Representative LaGuardia estimated that "at least one million quarts of liquor are consumed each day in the United States" and in his opinion "such an enormous take-in of liquor could not be carried on without the knowledge, if not the connivance, of the officials entrusted with the enforcement of the law."

He believed that the percentage of whisky drinkers in the country now is greater than in any other country, and that "prohibition is responsible for that condition."

"I am for temperance," he said, "and that is why I am for modification."

SHRADER FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY

No Further Light on Death of Wife Which Occurred a Week Ago.

SURPRISE, Neb., April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—Investigation into the death a week ago of Mrs. Wayne L. Schrader, 24, halted by the suicide of her husband, two years older, Saturday afternoon, remained unopened today as preparations for the funeral of the husband today went forward. State Sheriff Condit who came from Lincoln Friday to investigate the burning to death of Mrs. Shrader under their automobile, a week ago Sunday, announced last night at Lincoln that he considered the case ended.

Wayne Shrader cut his throat with a butcher knife at his father's farm Saturday afternoon, where he had been since the funeral of his wife. He had been questioned several hours before by Condit and county authorities who sought to clear up details of the automobile tragedy. Aside from saying that his wife was driving and that he was asleep in the back seat when the car hit and overturned in a ditch, Schrader could give little information. He ran to aid and when he returned the flaming car was consuming his wife's body.

Geneva Will Have Temperance Rally

(Special to The Star)

GENEVA, Neb., April 26.—Two days of effort on the part of temperance workers are scheduled for next week, when Sunday evening, May 2, a mass meeting will be held at the city auditorium with an address by a representative of the anti-saloon league.

A conference on law enforcement will take place Monday afternoon at the United Brethren church, and the same evening a motion picture entitled, "Lest We Forget," will be shown at the auditorium; free to the public.

THOMPSON FLAYS BILL OF TINCHER

Says Administration Proposal "Empty" and "Devoid of Promise."

Farm Bureau Head Charges a "Give - Them - a - Federal-Board" Attitude.

CHICAGO, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—The Coolidge administration's farm relief plan, as embodied in the Tincher bill, was branded Sunday by Sam H. Thompson, president of the American Farm Bureau federation, as "an empty proposal, devoid of any real promise to agriculture."

Expressing contempt for "palliatives and half measures," Thompson scored congressmen who in seeking to defeat farm measures have adopted a "give-them-a-federal-board attitude."

Recalling that last March 5, spokesmen for the Farm Bureau and other farm groups gave the house agriculture committee at its request a written statement of principles on which an adequate farm relief measure might be based, Thompson told how the same spokesmen, also at the committee's request, drafted a relief bill. The bill followed the lines of the Dickinson bill with some important changes.

"Extended hearings were conducted and all objections were swept away except one feature—the equalization fee. Representative Tincher's measure, said to have the support of the administration follows closely the provisions of that bill, except that it fails to provide an equalization fee or an equalization fund. It provides a revolving fund but makes no provision for replenishing it.

Sees But One Solution.

"Although the Tincher bill recognizes the surplus problems, there is in our opinion but one way in which any of the great surplus commodities like wheat or cotton could be stabilized through this machinery, "namely, by securing co-operative action on the part of substantially all the producers of the commodity. This is the millennium in co-operative marketing. Notwithstanding remarkable progress of the co-operatives, the percentage of products handled by co-operatives is comparatively small. It is obviously hopeless to expect relief from a plan that would be a burden of stabilization on the comparatively few who compose these co-operative groups.

"During the hearings, the phrase, 'give them a federal board' became a commonplace. The Tincher bill does just that. The American Farm Bureau federation has no disposition to enter into any such compromise. It demands a wholesome, straightforward provision which will enable great producers to stabilize their industry so they may receive the benefit of the American protective system."

Rural Carriers To Hold Annual Meet At Geneva

GENEVA, Neb., April 26.—Geneva is planning to entertain the state convention of the Nebraska rural carriers and the women's auxiliary July 19-20. It is the first time the postal organization has gone to so small a town as Geneva. Ivan Ertel, rural carrier in this county, was supported by the local Community club in extending the invitation when the carriers met at Lincoln last year. Delegates may number 100 or 400, dependent on the weather and roads at the time of the convention. The state organization of carriers is headed by C. W. Tunnilin, of Wymore; Lee Martin, of Dannebrog, is vice president, and Clarence Retting, of Overton, secretary-treasurer.

While the women have been accompanying their husbands to annual gatherings for a good many years they formed an organization only last year. The national auxiliary was organized but a year earlier. The officers of the women's branch are: President, Mrs. Carl Mutchmore, Liberty; vice president, Mrs. E. M. [illegible], York; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. James Bailey, Broken Bow.

BALTIMORE—(AP)—The condition of Mrs. Arthur E. Capper, wife of the senator from Kansas, was "slightly improved" last night, physicians at the Maryland Hospital for Women, announced. Mrs. Capper, who underwent a major operation at the hospital several weeks ago, suffered a relapse a few days ago.

CLAIM G. O. P. LEADERS' EYES ON PRESIDENCY

National Demo Committee Sees Selfish Aims In Farm Relief Action.

Assert Coolidge, Dawes, Lowden, Borah and Hoover Ambitious.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Several notables of the republican party were credited with presidential ambitions by the democratic national committee Sunday and accused of sticking fingers into the farm relief situation in congress to promote their own political fortunes.

Describing recent developments in agriculture legislation as "gestures," the committee in a statement said that analysis of the "rival ambitions" for the 1928 nomination is essential to understand what has been transpiring in the name o ffarm relief.

Starting with "the occupant of the white house," the statement singled out Vice President Dawes, former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois, Senator Borah of Idaho, Speaker Longworth, Senator Watson of Indiana, and Secretary Hoover as now delving into the farmer's problem in its relation to the next presidential campaigns.

"The occupant of the white house," it asserted, "has been slow to move in the matter, but political exigencies seem to be forcing the conclusion that something must be done at the present session. Indications of a change have been coming gradually."

Former Governor Lowden, the statement said, has been making speeches "advising farmers of their unequal economic position" and "it is evident that if Lowden is ambitions it is for the presidency."

Refer To McKinley Defeat.

Referring to the recent defeat of Senator McKinley of Illinois, the committee observed that farmers of the state "no doubt had both Mr. Lowden and the indifference of the national administration in mind."

Senator Borah was represented as "counting on opposition to the World court, foreign entanglements and things of that sort, as the chief stepping stones to his ambitions, but will talk a bit for the farmer meanwhile."

The statement classed Speaker Longworth as "regular" and "ready to perform" if the president wishes the "ruling coterie of the house to enact some sort of farm relief bill." The speaker, it continued, "has not yet offered a rural remedy, but he will have one yet."

Senator Watson was described as saying beautiful things to "Hoosier farmers in hope of holo presidential leverage," while Herbert Hoover "has some ideas about farm relief and the presidency. The general opinion is that if Coolidge can't get it, he will be for Hoover."

PERSIA'S NEW SHAH CROWNED

Teza Khan Pehlevi, Once a Trooper, Put on Throne of "King of Kings."

TEHERAN, Persia, April 26.—(By The Associated Press.)—The new Shah of Persia, Teza Khan Pehlevi, who rose from the humble station of groom and trooper in the Persian army to the throne, was crowned Sunday amid scenes of splendor.

Teza Khan, after he became premier and assumed power in 1923, declared himself in favor of a republic. He carried out a coup which ousted the Kakar dynasty, and then suddenly changed his mind, announcing his intention of becoming monarch.

Shah Ahmed Kajar was then in Paris and he was deposed, a not difficult task since he spent most of his time on the Riviera and gave little attention to the needs of his country.

The ceremony Sunday took place in the Museum hall of the old Gulistan palace. At the top of the hall facing the entrance stood the peacock throne. Immediately below were aides de camp with the imperial flag and a few feet away was the Naderi throne.

WILL COMPLETE KEARNEY HOTEL

(Special to The Star)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 26.—On Thursday morning Kearney's uncompleted hotel property will go under the hammer, at a sheriff's sale, the first step in the direction of completing the building, which was started seven years ago.

Indications are that there will be plenty of bidders on the grounds, judging by the number of inquiries which have been received, surveys and inventories of the property since the notice of sale was posted.

It is estimated that the property already represents a value of about $200,000 and it will take another $100,000 to complete it. While glass, hardware and other material still remains to be fitted, it has long since been purchased and is held in storage here. A material inventory was recently completed by the sheriff, as this goes with the building.

EVERY IMPROVEMENT

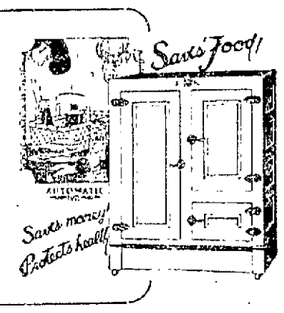

Every improvement known to modern refrigeration has been built into this fine Automatic. Eight wall insulation make food and ice last longer. The built in water cooler will prove a big convenience.

THE TRAP'S THE THING

An inefficient trap make the preservation of food impossible. In this Automatic the trap is in the ice chamber, where it belongs, away from food stuffs. It is leak, clog proof and air tight.

THE BEST IS CHEAPEST

An Automatic costs less because it embodies a combination of features guaranteed to make food and ice last longer. One of these is the 8 wall insulation with main wall of mineral wool, a substance that will not settle leaving unprotected spots.

AN AUTOMATIC REFRIGERATOR USES LESS ICE

A special demonstration will be given in our store during the week. Plan to attend and see for yourself just how the Automatic does it—We want you to judge and be convinced.

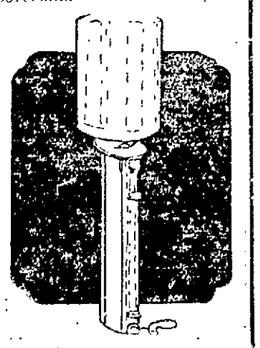

BETTER AIR CIRCULATION

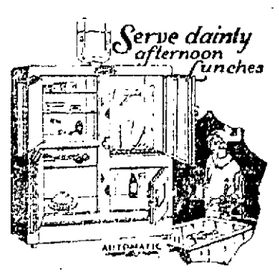

The perfected air circulation in the Automatic steadily feeds your food with dry, cold air, making impossible that "ICE BOX" taste old-fashioned refrigerators impart, ask about this when you come in.

Chilled Water

This carefully planned Automatic system is both cleanly and compact. This sturdy tank is lined with fine white porcelain.

It is easy to keep sweet and clean. This built in construction saves valuable space. The faucet is high grade nickel, will not drip, we want you to examine this fine feature.

YOU ARE NOT LIMITED

You have so much more free time with an Automatic. If you expect guests, put up your lunch beforehand. When your guests arrive your food will be as fresh and properly chilled as though you prepare it then.

FOR Acid Stomach

PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion or sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

Better Than Soda

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without "purging." It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

Theobald, 1002 North Twenty-fourth street, and M. Keene, 1540 South Twenty-fourth street. Both were small roof fires caused by sparks from chimneys. At the Doran Tin Shop, 224 South Tenth street, spontaneous combustion started a fire in a barrel of lamp black, but caused no damage. Rubbish under signboards at Fifteenth and O streets began to burn Sunday evening, but no damage resulted.

Bank's Suit on Trial.—The Iron National bank's suit for $4,050 plus interest against the Lee Broom & Duster Co. went on trial before District Judge Shepherd Monday morning after both parties had waived a jury. The action is brought on a $12,500 note given by the Northern Woods Products Co. to the Ironwood, Mich., bank in 1923. The note was endorsed by Clinton R. Lee as president of the broom company. Now that the woods products firm is defunct, suit has been started against the surety. Attorneys for the Lee firm assert that the endorsement was merely an accommodation matter that the corporation did not have power to make such an endorsement and that Lee had no authorization from his board of directors. Payments of $8,450 have already been made on the note.

The body will be taken to Yates City, Ill., for burial.

WILKINS MISSING FOR SEVEN DAYS

Flight of Second Plane to Follow Him to Point Barrow Hastened.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Failure to hear from Capt. George H. Wilkins, who left here seven days ago for Point Barrow with the first plane of the Detroit Arctic expedition, speeded the loading of the second plane to follow him today, it is reported by the North American Newspaper Alliance.

Captain Wilkins and Ben Eielson, his pilot, hopped off for Point Barrow April 15. Although Maj. Thomas G. Lanphier, commander of the second section of the expedition expressed confidence that the advance plane had reached Barrow, efforts to pick up radio signals from them yesterday were not successful.

Captain Wilkins and Eielson flew the single-motored Alaskan.

A test flight of the larger planes of the expedition, the three-motored Detroiter, to try out new compasses, delayed her contemplated departure yesterday.

The Detroiter weighs five tons. Six hundred gallons of gasoline have been put in her tanks.

WARDEN WINS A BATTLE OF WITS

Hashberger Borrows Motorcycle Officer to Catch Elusive Hunter.

By using a motorcycle on his hunting trips, William Ball of Columbus was able for a long time to elude him, Deputy Game Warden Hashberger believes. He suspected Ball of violating the game laws and tried to catch him at it, and with the aid of a motorcycle officer of Columbus police force, succeeded in apprehending Ball with seven wild ducks in his possession.

Confronted by this evidence, the hunter pleaded guilty before County Judge John Gibbon, who fined him $175 and costs, at the rate of $25 for each bird.

Hashberger had been out watching Ball of late and several times pursued him in an automobile, but the latter was always able to get on his motorcycle. One day last week, the deputy warden asked the chief of police at Columbus for assistance, and Motorcycle Officer H. A. Greer of that place was assigned to such duty.

Greer stationed himself at the Loup river bridge, while Hashberger proceeded to round up the supposed offender on his accustomed hunting ground. Ball followed his usual tactics by jumping on his two-wheeled vehicle and speeding away. Again Hashberger gave chase, and again he fell behind. But he had succeeded in getting his quarry headed for the bridge. So when Ball arrived there, he fell into Greer's hands.

Chief Game Warden O'Connell has sent a letter to Motorcycle Officer Greer at Columbus thanking him for the help given in catching Ball.

Kearney Man Fined $100.

A report comes from Kearney to the game and fish bureau that J. H. Vehland, whom Deputy Warden Loron Bunney arrested for shooting a wild goose, was fined $100 and costs for resisting arrest, that being the more serious offense.

Ernest Helphand of Fremont, arrested by Deputy Warden I. O. Hopewell for fishing without a license, was let off with $5 fine and costs. The county judge first assessed a fine of $15, but remitted $10 of it on account of the defendant's age.

Chief Game Warden O'Connell and Superintendent O'Brien of the Gretna fish hatchery are accompanying the state fish car on a trip to northern Nebraska. While it goes to the Valentine hatchery to load up for a distribution trip, they will proceed to Goose lake, in Holt county, acquired by the state last year as a public fishing and recreation resort. They will arrange to have two wells sunk in the lake for the purpose of providing a continuous flow of water and thus protect the fish from freezing in the ice in the winter.

As soon as the seining crew has finished at Moon lake, taking out the carp and other undesirable fish, it will start work on Goose lake. It is planned to put several carloads of young perch and bass into Goose lake within the next two weeks.

About People

Ladies Aid Presidents' association will meet at Bryan Memorial hospital Tuesday for an all-day meeting. Bring covered dish for lunch. Plans to be made for opening day.

Central circle of St. Paul church, home of Mrs. M. H. Garten, 1215 H street, Wednesday, 2:30 o'clock. Mrs. J. H. McMurtey, assisting hostess.

Mis Mildred Fellers, who appears in recital Tuesday evening at the Wesleyan auditorium, is a student with Anna B. Witte, and not with Parvin V. Witte, as stated in the Sunday Star.

Dr. Arthur L. Smith gave an illustrated lecture Monday morning at Nebraska Wesleyan university on "The Relation of Heart Disease to Tobacco, Coffee, and Alcohol." Dr. Smith said that many cases of heart irregularity were due to these substances, and he believed that many cases of heart trouble can be prevented by the avoidance of these stimulants.

GRANTS REQUISITION.

Wendell Dilworth, arrested at Waterloo, Ia., will be returned to Nebraska on a requisition issued by Governor McMullen, to be tried at Pawnee City, for deserting his minor child. The complaint alleges that a decree of divorce which his wife obtained included $15 a month alimony, and that he is delinquent in such payments since January 1, 1925, or 16 months in all. Sheriff Guy E. Avery of Pawnee county will go to Waterloo for the prisoner.

WOULD DIRECT CHARITY WORK

Dr. Sawyer Offers to Head County's Relief Activities.

Negotiations With Community Chest Apparently Not Progressing.

County Physician R. H. Sawyer presented a letter to the county board Monday asking that he be appointed director of all charity work in the county, taking over the duties which the Community Chest recently proposed to perform through the Social Welfare society.

"I do not favor Dr. Sawyer's application at all," stated Rev. Ray E. Hunt, chairman of the chest committee, when informed of the matter. "The chest once requested that a case worker be employed by the county for this work, but I am not at all sure that Dr. Sawyer is a trained case worker."

The committee of which Dr. Hunt is head was appointed to confer with the commissioners and put into operation a plan under which the Social Welfare society or some other agency would investigate charity work to be done by the county. The county would pay out money for charity only on order of the chest agency. The commissioners agreed to this proposal in principle, a few months ago and Dr. Hunt's duty was merely to work out the details.

No Satisfactory Action.

He has talked with the commissioners, he stated Monday, but has gained no satisfaction. He intends to confer with them again Tuesday or Wednesday.

"What the board is doing," he declares, "is agreeing to the plan in principle, then defeating it on detailed matters."

The commissioners themselves have admitted that they do not favor the chest proposal.

Dr. Sawyer states in his letter to the commission that he has sufficient experience to handle the charities. He told a reporter that he thinks his salary should be about $2,500 as he believes he can save that much to the county. As it is he says, he is employed on much of the county's charity work as an investigator, and investigates poor farm cases. He believes that the saving would be made through eliminating duplication and strict investigation of all cases. J. R. Bennett, the only commissioner on duty Monday morning, said that he had not considered Dr. Sawyer's application and has made no judgment of it in comparison with the chest's proposal.

Dr. Sawyer's Letter.

Following is Dr. Sawyer's letter:

"There is a demand for the charities in this county to be placed on a scientific basis.

"I believe my experience with the department of charities would fit me for this place.

"I would be glad to take his work and put in all my time in county work. I could handle and investigate those applying for help financially and physically and combine with the health office.

"An opinion from the attorney general says you would have a right to appoint a health officer at a salary, so I could be paid legally through offices already created by law. There is to be a change in my office the first of May, so if this could be arranged, I would give up my office now."

Japan Plans News Service Similar To Associated Press

TOKYO, April 26.—(AP)—Dissolution of Kokusai, Japan's national news agency, and the formation of a new non-profit mutual news association, similar to the Associated Press in America, was announced today following a meeting of representatives of the empire's largest vernacular newspapers.

The Japanese name of the new association is the Nippon Shimbun Rengo, which, translated into English, is "The Associated Press of Japan." Eight newspapers, having 75 per cent of the total newspaper circulation of Japan, compose the charter membership. They are the Asahi, Nichi-Nichi, Hochi, Jiji, Kokumin and Chigai Shogyo of Tokyo, and the Ashai and Mainchi of Osaka.

Yukichi Iwanaga, who has been managing director of Kokusai, was elected to a similar position in the new organization. Reading the plans of the association, Director Iwanaga said:

"We wish to follow, so far as possible, the general idea of the Associated Press of America, which undoubtedly is the greatest news organization in the world today. Owing to the peculiar conditions in Japan, however, we cannot hope for attainment of this ideal for some time to come.

"The newspapers of Japan want their news unbiased and uncolored, and it is believed that only through a mutual non-profit arrangement can such news be exchanged. It will also mean eventually a tremendous saving of money in news gathering."

Girl, 4, Dies In Trying to Save Infant In Fire

BARBOURVILLE, Ky., April 26.—(AP)—Trying to save her 4-months-old brother, Jennie Smith, 4 years old, was trapped in a fire that destroyed the home of her father, John Smith, near here. Both children were burned to death.

Neighbors found the charred bodies in the ruins, the girl's body covering that of her brother.

8 Arrests Made Over Week End On Dry Law Charges

Arrests by state and federal officers for alleged liquor violations totaled eight Saturday and Sunday.

One of the prisoners, Gene Fry, 2310 Y street, was taken before Municipal Judge Chappell Monday and pleaded guilty to a charge of illegal sale of liquor. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to sixty days in the county jail. Three counts of the complaint charging possession, transportation and intoxication, were dismissed on motion of the county attorney.

State Deputy Sheriffs Weygint and Dudschus, Federal Agent Karl Schmitt and Deputy County Sheriff Ward took part in the arrests. The folowing people were booked at the city jail and held:

Roscoe Meyer, 28, 130 North Twenty-first street; Lee Barker, 40, 4003 Lewis street; Ed Foster, 37, 1802 North Twenty-eighth street; Otis Taylor, 36, colored; Arthur Wilson, colored; Mrs. Katherine Wilson, colored, and Arthur Bowen.

Bowen, a night watchman holding a certificate from the city as a special policeman, is said to have sold intoxicating liquor while on duty as a watchman in the warehouse district. Officers said one of their men bought a quantity of liquor from him.

Dismiss Three On Charges of Disturbing Peace

Three young men were dismissed with a warning Monday when Judge Chappell received their pleas of guilty to charges of disturbing the peace. They were arrested Sunday night on the complaint of residents near Tenth and Washington streets, who said the boys and several girls were disturbing them by loud talking and laughing.

Judge Chappell advised the young men to have a good time, but not at the expense of sleeping citizens. The boys gave their names as: William Loss, 18, Jacob Schlauger; and William Knobb.

Jury to Decide Responsiblity for Injuries of Pair

Whether William H. Bair, 60, stepped out suddenly in front of a slowly moving car or whether he was struck down at the middle of a crossing by a speeding auto are issues involved in his $15,000 suit against Frank and Kenneth Bystrom, which went to trial Monday morning before a jury in Judge Shepherd's court.

Mr. Bair relates that the accident occurred last December 3 at Seventeenth and P streets as he was crossing the street to the north. He claims that the Bystrom auto, driven by the son Kenneth, knocked him several feet, then struck him again. A badly sprained left knee, crushed hip and internal displacements are among the injuries he alleges.

The defendants answer that it was night time when the mishap took place and that Bair suddenly walked in front of their slowly moving vehicle.

Fellowships Won By Lincoln Men

P. Willard Johnson, Ralph H. Edee and Ralph V. McGrew, three former students at the University of Nebraska, whose homes are in Lincoln, have been made research fellows in chemistry at Northwestern university, according to announcement by Dean James A. James of the graduate school of the university.

Mr. Edee and Mr. Johnson were graduated at Nebraska in 1924, received their master's degree here last year, and have been doing graduate work in chemistry at Northwestern since. Mr. McGrew received his B. Sc. at Nebraska in 1923 and his M. Sc. in 1924.

Speed Cop Gets Girl Driving To Sunday School

Hurrying to Sunday school is commendable, but not when one exceeds the speed limit in doing so. Judge Chappell reminded Miss Betty Sutherland, student, when she appeared in police court Monday morning.

Charged with driving her father's car at 32 miles an hour, Miss Sutherland, through her father, told the court she was hurrying to Sunday school when she was arrested.

The defendant chose to go without the car for sixty days when she was given her choice between that and a fine of $12.

Fred Wiren, 18, who was also driving his father's car faster than 18 miles an hour, was given his choice between a $15 fine and a penalty of refraining from driving for sixty days. He chose the latter.

Other violators who appeared Monday were: Ivan Limi, speeding, $15; F. D. Wilson, violating an automatic signal, $10; C. S. Paine, parked back of other cars, $1; and Don Sorfold, violating an arterial stop signal, $5.

OXFORD ENJOYS BUILDING BOOM

Much Activity Last Season and More In Prospect This Year.

Special to The Star.
OXFORD, Neb., April 26.—Oxford is on the boom. Not the [illegible] but a steady, lasting sort of a boom, but a steady increase and growth that promises substantial future progress to this enterprising little city.

With several new buildings constructed last year for Albers' Undertaking Parlors and Funeral Home, the Post barber shop, [illegible] Bros. real estate company, [illegible] Oxford filling station, the [illegible] store, and Nelson Bros. [illegible] and ice plant, the building boom was started and this spring extensive plans are being made for like improvements.

Among the new buildings now in the course of construction are the new garage show rooms being erected by the Oxford Auto [illegible] the Gupton garage. Leper's store is being torn down preparatory to the construction of a fine new building and is [illegible] for the trade from the basement of the new [illegible] store. [illegible] has been removed to another location to make room for a new [illegible] building just south of Leper's [illegible] [illegible] and it is said a large [illegible] [illegible].

Plant More Beets Than Ever Before

Special to The Star.
BAYARD, Neb., April 26. — The largest beet acreage on record is contracted, and 45 per cent of it is already planted, according to figures of the Great Western Sugar company. Seventy thousand acres or almost 20,000 acres more than last year's acreage, is contracted. Rains which fell Friday and Saturday will bring up the beets planted, and a good stand is almost assured.

Indianola High Track Champion Of Red Willow

INDIANOLA, Neb., April 26.—Indianola high school won the Red Willow county track and field championships held here Friday. Indianola scored 58 3-4 points. Danbury was second with 28 points. Lebanon third with 17 and Bartley last with one point.

Maxwell of Red Willow was high point man, with McKean of Indianola gaining second honors.

PRESENT YOUTH A HIGHER GRADE

Speaker at Congregational Conference Says Deserving of Confidence.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., April 26.—(AP)—Over 800 persons attended the closing session of the 70th annual meeting of the Nebraska Congregational conference in a union service held at the Liederkranz auditorium Sunday evening. A meeting for men of the conference was held during the afternoon. The conference was in session four days.

In an address before the conference and other visitors Sunday evening on "What Ails Our Youth?" Dr. [illegible] of Chicago, declared youth of today is of higher grade than formerly and is deserving of confidence.

"The rise of democracy in Turkey" was the theme of the other address of the evening, delivered by Rev. Paul E. Nilson of Tarsus, Turkey. A real effort to follow the pattern set by the western world now is being made in Turkey he said.

A resolution adopted by the conference late Sunday endorsed the union of the two women's organizations of Congregational churches of the state in harmony with the conference. The program of the Nebraska anti-saloon league was also endorsed.

Loup City's High School Orchestra Comes to Lincoln

Special to The Star.
LOUP CITY, Neb., April 26.—The Loup City high school orchestra of 22 members under the direction of Fred D. Schneider, will again make trip to the state music contest held at Lincoln on April 29-May 1. This is the same orchestra that won first prize last year in class "B" and it is going strong again this year having defeated four others at central Nebraska music contest held at St. Paul April 9. It has already captured two cups.

It is also taking a mixed quartet along this year which also won first prize at St. Paul. The musicians intend to leave on Thursday, April 29, and arrive home on Sunday, May 2. They have chartered a 25 passenger bus for the trip.

While in Lincoln the Loup City Artists will broadcast a program from KFAB, beginning at 8:15 p. m.

THE ITALIAN PRECEDENT.

If Italy is to be permitted to settle her debt to this country on the basis of 28 cents on the dollar, how will it affect other claims which America has against foreign nations?

The Italian settlement has already received senatorial approval and every effort to secure a reconsideration has failed. It may be taken as an accepted fact that the terms will remain the same and the agreements, which secured ratification in the senate will provide the permanent program through which Italy will liquidate her debt to America.

Now France comes along with a proposal more satisfactory to Washington officials than the one officially presented by the French debt funding commission last year. The final proposal by the Caillaux mission was for payment of the principal of the debt but with interest at so low an average rate for a period of nearly 70 years that it in reality presented a settlement on the basis of about 40 cents on the dollar. Mr. Coolidge and the American commission stood firm for a payment of 60 per cent of the total debt. They were willing to cancel 40 per cent but France would not agree to this offer.

The new French offer, it is understood, calls for payments of $25,000,000 annually at the beginning and gradually rising to $125,000,000 a year at the end of 65 years. This is calculated by the statisticians to be the equivalent of a 50 per cent cancellation of debt by the American government, or midway between the positions of the two commissions attempting to reach an agreement last year. If the terms have been correctly reported, France on her own volition proposes a settlement on a more liberal basis than the one which was made with Italy but grossly out of line with the agreement through which Great Britain is liquidating her debt to this country. The British were the first to move for a settlement of obligations to this country and the agreement which was approved carried no concessions.

It will thus be seen that in collecting the loans which she made during the war, the United States has adopted three different formulas. Great Britain is called upon to pay practically in full. Italy is allowed to settle on the basis of 28 cents on the dollar. France may be let off with a payment of 50 per cent of her debt. Presumably the basis of settlement has in every instance been fixed by the economic principle of ability to pay. There are so many international aspects to the Italian settlement that only time will demonstrate its wisdom.

* * *

It has been highly annoying and irritating to many Americans to "bargain" over these settlements. We have resented this way of doing business primarily because we have been made to innocently suffer ill-will and distrust. Dislike of the United States has been spread abroad as a result of it. Italy and France have shown a disposition to forget the causes and consequences of the war; to overlook the compensations which they have received in in new colonies, and mandates over territories rich in natural resources. The great debt which was assumed by this country has been forgotten by our European friends. Instead America has been represented as grasping and greedy, intent upon collecting to the last cent. We have resented that.

In the field of international relationships, the Italian settlement presents another problem. Italy has been a disturbing factor in recent months. Mussolini has been blustering and bluffing. He has been given to dangerous notions, threatening speech and gestures. First it was Corfu, where he assumed a warlike attitude against Greece. Then it was Germany, at which he made faces and now he is inciting a mobilization of Turkish troops, and the fortification of a frontier. There is no telling where Mussolini's dreams and ambitions will lead him. America would deeply regret that if through mistaken conceptions of Italy's ability to pay,, she should have placed Mussolini in an even more favorable position to the cause trouble.

The political consideration involved in the Italian settlement may prove vastly more important than the economic. Its bearing upon the international situation remains yet to be revealed.

KING SPUD'S REIGN NEARLY OVER.

After occupying a position for the last 7 or 8 months as absolute monarch of the food market, the lordly potato now seems to be heading for a fall. There are gathering signs of revolt among his subjects which promise ere long to push him off the throne.

Having been cock of the walk for so long, King Spud has grown exceedingly haughty. He no longer recognizes his associates of humbler days when he meets them face to face, but goes past with his head in the air as much as to say: "Who is this common person?" His old friends, Mr. Onion, Col. Carrot, Mrs. Rhubarb, Miss Sweet Potato, and the others with whom he used to hobnob have been getting the cold shoulder right along of late.

Pride, however, goeth before a fall, and he who rises high falls so much farther. When the tuber tyrant is finally overthrown, there will be few to offer him comfort.

Among the chief rejoicers at his downfall will be the housewives who have been paying 75 to 85 cents a peck for potatoes of more or less indifferent quality. A year ago, that amount of money would have purchased a whole bushel of good ones. The home table providers will feel like turning out and marching in a victory parade when their oppressor's sway is ended.

How imminent the dissolution of King Spud's regime may be is indicated by these few lines appearing on the market page:

"Chicago, April 22.—Potatoes, receipts 97 cars; total U. S. shipments, 399; on track, 458; demand and trading very slow; market weak and unsettled; wide price range very few sales."

The quotations following this report show a drop of 50 cents to $1 per 100 pounds, or 30 to 60 cents a bushel, from the peak prices established in March.

So long as his ally, Old Man Winter, stood by him, King Spud was able to maintain himself against all attacks. But Spring came up with reinforcements for the army of consumers and executed a flank movement which drove Winter back to his northern fastnesses. Faced by this new enemy, the food monarch is now in a state of siege. His ammunition has almost been exhausted and the prospects are he will soon be forced to surrender.

In other words, the arrival of mild weather has compelled potato speculators to bring out their remaining stocks and put them on the market. At this season, old tubers deteriorate very fast and anybody who has quantities of them is anxious to sell. Also, new potatoes grown in the south are due to arrive in the near future, which means that the 1925 product must find buyers now or not at all.

It will be a big comedown for King Spud, after wearing court robes and receiving royal homage all winter, to get down to his old level and begin working for his living again. But that is just what he will have to do.

Old legend tells of a Sicilian king who boasted that he held his regal estate so securely no power could deprive him of it; but an angel sent from Heaven appeared in his court, impersonated the king, mounted the throne and reduced the real ruler to the role of a jester with cap and bells. After bitter experiences which brought the king to a due sense of humiliation, he was restored to his throne and thereafter ruled his state with becoming modesty.

Perhaps it will be like that with King Spud. There is no doubt that he was all swelled up with false pride over having risen to heights above his former fellows; but an ordeal of chastening may yet bring him to realize that riches and power are fleeting things in this world, and that one shouldn't allow his head to be turned by temporary success.

AFRICAN PEACE PROSPECTS.

There are many reasons for believing that the peace conference which is just getting under way at Oudjda will result in complete cessation of hostilities between France and Spain on the one side and the Riffs under Abd-El-Krim on the other. The principal one of these is that all parties to the conflict are heartily tired of war, but there are others and all of them are of the most potent character.

Although both France and Spain are backward in admitting it, Abd-El-Krim has shown himself to be a real fighter on the ground which he and his warriors know thoroughly. This was demonstrated when last year he and his tribesmen drove deep into French Morocco, threatening the road to Fez, having previously defeated the Spaniards so decisively that there was some danger that they would be unable to hold even the narrow strip of their zone along the Mediterranean.

Neither France nor Spain desires to pour any more treasure and lives in the fight against the Riff chieftain, their antipathy to such a course being based on pohtical, financial and moral reasons, although it is denied that the first two mentioned have anything to do with the matter. It is a known fact, however, that the left wing socialists and the radical socialists in the chamber are fighting quite as effectively against France in Morocco as is Abd-El-Krim himself and those spokesmen for the government who assert that politics had nothing to do with the opening of peace negotiations must be aware that their protestations carry no weight.

Spain refuses to fight further but is quite willing that France should launch a great offensive, which the latter country declines to do. The 130,000 soldiers which it has in Africa are sick and tired of the awful hardships they are required to endure. They want to go home. Furthermore, France cannot afford to keep them there any longer, so there is every probability that an agreement will be reached with the Riffs.

It is not believed that Abd-El-Krim will accept the terms which it has been announced will be offered him, but these will without doubt be altered so as to make them acceptable. In the end he may be expected to rule over an autonomous territory under the protection of the two nations he has been fighting.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL WISDOM.

There is nobody better qualified to pass judgment on the lengthy speeches delivered on the floor of the United States senate than the man who presides over the deliberations of that body. And every once in a while the occupant of the vice presidential office lets loose some trite remark that shows just what he thinks of it all. Ordinarily, he holds himself under the restraint of "senatorial courtesy;" but now and then, it seems, he just has to blow off a little steam and express feelings.

The late Thomas R. Marshall "said a mouthful," in common slang parlance, when he suggested that "what this country needs is a good 5-cent cigar." He had been listening to so much "blah" from the statesmen at Washington that he had long since ceased to take their talk seriously. His utterance anent the 5-cent cigar was another way of saying that the country could get along very well without the long-winded harangues which senators are accustomed to make upon the floor of their chamber on any and every subject under the sun.

Vice President Dawes has added another commentary which carries much the same idea. He told an audience of D. A. R. women the other day that what he didn't like about his job was "too much oratory and too little home cooking." In other words, when he isn't sitting in his chair listening to Jim Reed, Borah and the other windjammers in the senate, he is "dining out" as the guest of some organization and enduring floods of after dinner eloquence.

Again resorting to slang, "ain't it the truth"? And that sort of thing isn't confined to the city of Washington nor to the two branches of congress. Not by any means. From one end of the country to the other nowadays, men and women are suffering from the effects of too much public speaking. They get it at their various luncheon clubs and other clubs; they have to listen to it if they turn on the radio at home; and almost anywhere one can go, except out into the solitudes of nature, he is likely to run into some agitator or lecturer that has a special "drive" to put over or a special hobby to expound to his fellows.

Why is it that Americans can't get together once in a while without having the occasion spoiled by speechmaking? Is there no longer any virtue in quiet, individual discussion of matters in which people are really interested?

Time was when great national issues were decided by street corner arguments in which many citizens took turns giving their divergent views. They did not assemble around a banquet table and let two or three picked orators do all the talking. In those days, there was a much greater interest in public affairs than there is now. Each person felt that he was directly concerned in governmental policies, and everybody felt free to express his thoughts thereon.

The utterance of Vice President Dawes about "too much oratory and too little home cooking" may serve as a pretty good diagnosis of "what's wrong with the world today." It conveys the idea that men and women would do better to give more attention to household matters and social converse and not put in so much time as they do attending functions where they listen to a lot of tongue-patter which is promptly forgotten.

Homely Philosophy.

WHY AN INGRATE SHOULD CHANGE HIS WAY OF THINKING.

Ingratitude is one of the meanest of sins.

To forget the kindness and courtesy which has been extended to you at the time when you most needed it is a sin of selfishness.

To think that others should go on bestowing favors which you forget is a peculiar form of arrogance.

To pretend to be friends one moment and grow cold the next is deceitfulness advertising itself.

The sooner Miss or Mr. Shallow-Pate gets away from this notion of sweeping all obligations aside and getting his or her own way regardless of whom it hurts, the better for the popularity of that one.

If you are well-bred you cannot be ungrateful.

Kindliness is one of the surest signs of good breeding. This stands regardless of your book knowledge or your financial position. The wages of ungratefulness is the death of friendship.

Diet and Health

COLUMN RULES.

Please do not depend upon personal answers from me for conditions that have to have the immediate attention of a physician. And do not depend on the column for such service, for even though your questions can be answered in the column and answered immediately, it would be at least four weeks before the answer can appear.

My Diet and Health column is a syndicated feature, appearing all over the United States and Canada. It is written and sent out from New York. This means that it has to be prepared three or four weeks in advance. The column creates great interest wherever it appears and the combined mail from the different places is enormous. In order to be able to handle this and to be helpful to you, there are certain rules which we have formulated which you must follow. Unless these rules are complied with, your letters cannot receive any attention.

First: Address your letters to me in care of this paper. They will be forwarded to my New York office. Sign your name as evidence of good faith. It will not be used in any way. When I answer you in the column I use one initial.

Second: Write legibly and with a pen—if your handwriting is not clear, get somebody to write for you, or use a typewriter. Do not write more than 200 words. Remember the number of letters I get!

Third: When you ask for material which we have offered, you must enclose a large-sized, self-addressed, stamped envelope. The address must include your full name, street and number, city or town, and state. The booklet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must include ten cents in loose stamps. Do not send money—it is too easily lost in the mails. Only one booklet can be sent with each request.

Fourth: Do not ask for diagnoses or for individual treatment. Do not ask questions that are not of general interest and answerable in the column. You must see your personal physician for such information. Watch my daily articles for something similar to the questions you want discussed, and consider yourself answered when you see them, whether your initials are appended or not. I must answer questions collectively in order to save time and space.

Fifth: Allow at least three weeks to elapse before thinking your request for material has gone astray or is not answered because you have not followed the rules. Allow a much longer period of time for an answer to appear in the column, if it can appear.

Don't forget to enclose a fully self-addressed and stamped envelope with your request for any material which we have offered (and the ten cents in stamps if you ask for the booklet on reducing and gaining).

Unless these rules are obeyed your letters cannot receive any attention.

I feel like adding a last rule. It is this: Save some of your 200 words to continue telling me how much you enjoy the column and how much benefit you are deriving from it. Such a message is an inspiration to me and to the followers and makes our work happier and therefore more helpful.

Tomorrow—Nuts As a Protein Food.

Copyright, 1926, by The George Matthew Adams Service.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

The Martian And Niagara

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS,
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Papular Interest.

If that "visitor from Mars," to whose curiosity and perspicacity so many appeals are made, ever reaches our planet, one of the first sights that we shall surely take him to see, while we eagerly watch for its effect upon his mind, is Niagara.

Coming from a world where water can only be obtained by waiting for the sun to melt the polar snows, no doubt the Martian's first impression would be one of envy. But, being (by hypothesis) a past master of engineering science, what would he think of our utilization of this superb specimen of nature's generosity? Would a smile of contempt curve his lip when he saw six millions of horse-power freely offered and only one million taken?

"If you don't need them," he might say, "turn them ove to me. I'll contrive a way to send them by radio to Mars."

"But," some one of us might reply, "we don't want to spoil the beauty and majesty of this great cataract. People come from the remotest parts of our world just to look at Niagara Falls."

"Well," returns the Martian, with a shrug, "wait a few million years. When, like us, you have to save a world from starvation by fighting and overcoming the Fates themselves, you will perceive no beauty and no majesty outside the achievements of the inventive mind—of which I observe that you have some little glimmer here. Cheris it well! It will be your only hope in the future, when it may set all your Niagaras to doing useful work for you. There comes a time upon every world when merely keepink alive is the only concern of its inhabitants.

"We passed through our age of poetry and philosophy," continues the visitor, "about the time when the highest life forms on your planet were mollusks. We, yet have ancient libraries in which the curious read of those strange days on Mars when our ancestors worshipped beauty and mystery, speculated about the gods, and passed their lives in waking dreams, inspired by poetry by music, and by beauty deemed "its own excuse for being.'

"But those things are not able to survive such revolutions as time has brought upon us. The preessur of stery physical necessity has squeezed them out of our nature. Our material needs are so great that all of the mental power that our long ages of evolutionary development have bestowed upon us has to be turnd entirely to their service. We are undergoing the last form of the 'struggle for existence," and it is only a desperate grip with material nature, a brutal physical contest, though, to be sure, inspired and maintained by high mentality. With our science we have mastered nature's forces one after another, but our victory has been our undoing. It has resulted i nmaking us nature's slaves, for now we have to grovel at the feet of our own inventions.

"There was a time whena Niagara on Mars would have been worshiped as you worship yours—for its power to aweken sentiments that soar above the level of simple physical utility. Then we, no doubt, would have hesitated, as you now do, to destroy any of its features of sublimity and beauty that appeal to the unmaterial side of existence. I know what your feelin ig, but, with my race, I have virtually lost the power to experience it, to share it with you. The thunder of these waters and the lightning swift gleams that play on the surving brink awaken in me only thoughts of the utilizable energy of which they are signs. That machinery, pitifully inefficient, which you have erected to capture but a handful of this wasting power, is a stronger magnet for me than the sight of the plunging river falling through its clouds. I can hardly resist the temptation to tear away and, putting in its place some of our masterpieces of mechanism, grasp the raging giant wih subduing grip and bend his magnificent force under the yoke of work.

Neck Broken on Stage, Comedian Smiles at 'Hand'

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)—His neck broken in the finale of his vaudeville skit, while the unsuspecting audience laughed its approval of the comedy, Ralph Mackenzie, an "old timer" before the footlights, died here Sunday.

Mackenzie was the old professor in a scene depicting the hazing of the instructor by a group of college students, which ended when the processor was tossed in a blanket.

While presenting the act Friday night, Mackenzie struck the taut blanket headlong. Other members of the company sensed his injury when Mackenzie became limp and stopped the performance.

Smiling while the house rang with laughter, Mackenzie slipped off the stage.

Once in the wings doctors were summoned and Mackenzie was taken to the hospital, where he died yesterday.

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Sidney A. Goodman, Alahamba Apartments, Baltimore, Md. Sidney says my stories could be better and that he is just the fellow that could do better. But he is not the mayor of Dallas or somebody that worked with Buffalo Bill or in other words some personage. He says that probably they go over better when I tell them.

He certainly don't think I tell these things on the stage! I never told a story on the stage in my life.

I put these in here every day just as a sidelight on what a man has to listen to every day that don't even tell stories on the stage. The whole idea seems to be lost on Sidney. It's like doing a burlesque, and people don't know it. On the stage, Sidney, I tell facts about Coolidge, and Dawes, Borah, the senate, and everything in our national life. There is no jokes connected with them. They are truths, and the people laugh.

Here is one Sidney sent me. A Virginian had always wanted to visit Westminster Abbey. He finally got the chance. The last rays of sunshine were disappearing from the horizon, and the settings were otherwise beautiful. He wanted to hear the chimes. He stopped his cabman to listen. He sat enthralled, listening to the beautiful sounds. He was deeply moved and said to the cab driver, "It must be wonderful to live here where you can always listen to those wonderful chimes."

"I can't hear you," said the cabby. "I say those chimes are beautiful. You must get lots of pleasure out of them."

The cabby shouted back at him, "I can't hear a word you are saying. Those damn bells -"

Now Sidney, I am like you. I think that is a pretty good story.

Weekly Review of Grain Market

The wheat market turned easier during the past week although foreign markets were generally firm, the department of agriculture reported in its weekly grain market review. Market receipts of wheat were larger than for the previous week and mills in the southwest were again selling part of their holdings on account of the draggy flour inquiry, forcing old crop futures and cash wheat prices downward, while new crop futures were relatively firm with good export inquiry.

Trade reports again indicated that European stocks had been depleted and that steady buying might be expected for the rest of the crop year. Inter wheat was reported in very good to excellent condition in the principal producing sections, while spring wheat seeding was well along toward completion in the southern part of the spring wheat area. Cash wheat was weaker than futures.

Corn prices were relatively firm, although receipts at most markets were heavier than the preceding week's light offerings.

ENDORSE TINCHER BILL.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—(AP)—The Tincher farm relief bill, reported to the house by its agriculture committee, was endorsed yesterday by the National Co-operative Milk Producers' federation at a meeting of its legislative committee. The measure, which would establish a credit totalling $100,000,000 for farmers' co-operative marketing associations, said the statement, is "designed to help the farmers help themselves."

Man Who Advised Robbers Forgets Own Principles

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP).—The up-to-date robber remains self possessed when captured and cooly talks his way to freedom, Vincent De Pascal wrote in an article found in his pocket, but when the author of the tale was caught while robbing home of an Evanston broker he became hysterical and when the police arrived broken down and sobbed.

De Pascal, who gained some publicity a year ago while in the Elmira state reformatory in New York when an essay won for him first prize in an advertising agency contest, was captured last night in the home of George B. Williams. Returning from a walk Williams found him hiding in a bathroom and turned him over to the police.

In De Pascal's hotel room police found $20,000 in bonds which the prisoner admitted were stolen in one of several robberies he had commited in Evanston.

De Pascal's prize winning essay obtained a shortening of his sentence for burglary at Elmira.

Invite You Now to

Your Great Pacific Coast

COME now or this summer to see its incomparable marvels, to enjoy its climate, to take part in its sports. The world offers nothing to surpass this "trip abroad within your own United States."

Stretching from north to south between the Canadian border and the Mexican line is a highway without parallel in all the world—great Pacific Avenue!—2000 miles in length!

A world of wonders made up of mountains, valleys, canyons, lakes and sea, including the six great National Parks known as Mt. Rainier, Crater Lake, Lassen Volcanic, Yosemite, General Grant and Sequoia, and the famous cities of Seattle, Tacoma, Spokane, Portland, San Francisco, Oakland, San Diego and Los Angeles offer to the traveler a field of interest, sport and pleasure that is unsurpassed upon the globe.

Renowned Lake Tahoe, the magnificent "Charmed Land" of the Pacific Northwest, the splendid Columbia River Highway, the unique Redwood Highway, Santa Catalina Island—a thousand other places of enchantment might be named—are here to claim a well-deserved attention.

To fish or hunt or camp, or play, or see great sights, or merely rest—to breathe fine air, to bask in genial sunshine, to sleep through refreshing nights, to add zest to your exercise—to know a land, in fact, that measures close to real perfection, come to this great Western Coast.

The transportation cost, embracing the whole length of the Pacific Coast (with stop overs anywhere) is little more than for a round trip ticket to one only of its rare cities. It's a travel bargain.

Why, therefore, see but one when you can see all of them, plus the many wonders in the vicinity of each?

If you are coming west this year see the Great West as a whole. You'll never regret it. You'll say it is the finest trip that you've ever taken, though you've traveled 'round the world.

When You Come, See Glorious Southern California

Southern California is a land you've always wanted to behold, a garden spot, a sportland and all-year playground supreme.

Here is a land of still different attractions and a variety of charms that win the plaudits of new hundreds of thousands every year.

Dotted by Old Spanish Missions, naturally decorated with flowers of every kind and hue, and made strange with unusual vegetation, rare fruits and uncommon industries, this empire of grandeur offers change of scene and new environment that builds new spirit and excites new interest in life.

So when you come to the Pacific Coast see Southern California, and when you come to Southern California, see the Pacific Coast.

U. S. Weather Bureau mean temperatures in Los Angeles for 50 years have averaged 69 degrees for the months of June, July, August and September and a very low humidity has made even the warmer days feel cooler than elsewhere.

Ask railroad ticket agents about special round trip fares from May 15th until October 31st, including circle tours which enable you to see the whole coast in one glorious trip.

LEADERS URGING CLOSE CONGRESS

Republicans Under Pressure by White House for Early Adjournment.

Belgian Debt Settlement and Public Buildings Bill Next in Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—By the Associated Press.—Under pressure from the white house, republican leaders in congress will redouble their efforts this week to get the calendars cleared of important legislation so an early adjournment can be taken.

House leaders figure that they can be ready for adjournment by May 15, but some members are not certain that they can wind up its business within a space of three weeks.

The Belgian debt settlement will be taken up again Monday and will be followed by the legislative appropriation bill and $165,000,000 public buildings bill. Both of these measures contain highly controverted features and will call for considerable discussion.

Great Carload Sale

ALL WEEK

April 26---May 1

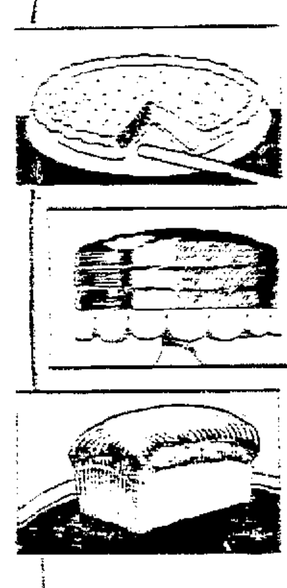

FREE

To every lady attending the great sale and demonstration of Coleman Cookers this week we are giving free a useful vegetable brush. No obligation is incurred by any lady accepting this brush absolutely free.

Factory Representative to Conduct Demonstration

So great is the importance of this great carload sale that a special representative from the Coleman Factory at Wichita, Kansas, Mr. C. L. Williams, has been assigned to assist our hardware department in conducting special demonstrations and giving instruction to users of Coleman Cookers.

Coleman Cookers

MAKE AND BURN THEIR OWN GAS

Coleman Cookers combine a gas plant and range in one. They make their own gas from a mixture of common motor gasoline and air forced under pressure to the all metal burners. Positive valve control insures perfect SAFETY. The tank cannot be filled while burners are lighted. Fuel cannot spill. So great is the safety of Coleman Cookers that they burn equally well UPSIDE DOWN.

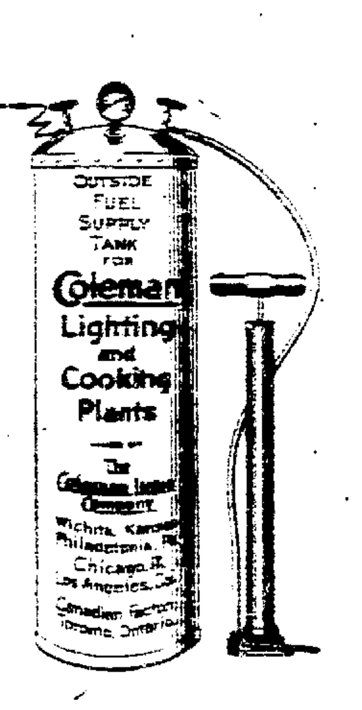

QUICK - - HOT - - CLEAN

In a special contest with six oil stoves of different makes Coleman Cookers reached full cooking heat one minute faster than the nearest competitor. Coleman Cookers reach full cooking heat in sixty seconds. The clean blue flame from the all metal burners is hotter than city gas. Coleman Cookers are absolutely sootless and odorless. The brightest pan will remain spotless over its steady flame.

Special Premiums to Purchasers of Coleman Ranges This Week

CHOOSE ONE

ELECTRIC COOKER with adjustment to two different cooking temperatures given free to purchaser of Coleman Ranges this week. A regular Ten Dollar value. Or select a 32-piece Set of Dinnerware of popular design. A valuable addition to the china closet of any home.

Five Dollar Credit

As a special concession during this sale we have made arrangements with our exchange department to offer five dollars credit for your old stove or range on your account toward a new Coleman Range. This offer stands regardless of the condition of your old stove if it is still in use.

Nebraska U. In Forefront With Locke on Cinders

Locke's Feats Put Husker Athletics In Spotlight

Nebraska U.'s Stellar Sprinter Has Track Fan Everywhere Keeping Tab On His Activities; Dua With Missouri Next on Cornhusker Program; Locke To Show Speed In Three Local Meets.

BY GREGG McBRIDE.

With Roland Locke, Nebraska sprint sensation, setting the track world back on its heels by his 9 5-10 seconds performance in the 100-yard dash at the Drake relays last Saturday, the Cornhusker track schedule takes on new importance.

Locke's ability to consistently get under 9.8 in his cinder-burning spurts, has caused track critics of the country to no longer regard the Nebraska phenom a mere flash in the pan, but rather a powerful speed demon that probably will cause the track statisticians to re-write the record books.

The feat of the Cornhusker boy in burning up the Drake paths, loose and spongey from a drenching rain, proved the sensation of the Des Moines classic. His Saturday performance was forecast by his mark of 10 seconds the previous day, the Friday heat being run over a track which was dotted with water puddles and blotched with mud.

Displays Wares Saturday.

The speed flashed by the North Platte youth last week has made him a marked man and track fans throughout the country will follow with interest future performances of the Nebraska comet.

Athletic followers of the Cornhusker commonwealth are fortunate in as much as they will be privileged to watch Locke in three races before his collegiate career in Scarlet and Cream spangles is ended.

The first of this trio of events is scheduled for next Saturday, when the University of Missouri track team invades Lincoln for a dual meet in the Memorial stadium. The Cornhusker-Bengal argument is scheduled for 2 p. m.

Huskers Want Revenge.

Locke's performance is not the only factor in making the Missouri dual an important and thrilling exhibition of track and field sport. Missouri won the Missouri Valley conference track title last year in the Valley meet at Norman, Okla., and the Cornhusker squad, of course, is anxious for revenge.

Richerson and Lancaster, two Missouri field men, promise to make the field event program plenty interesting.

Lancaster, who won the Valley indoor broad jump championship, will meet Bobbie Stephens, Nebraska boy, who won second honors from a good field of jumpers at the Kansas and Drake relays. Lancaster is considered one of the best pole vaulters in the Valley and his contest with Frank Wirsig, present Nebraska varsity record holder, promises unusual interest.

Richerson Won at Penn.

Doss Richerson, who won the shot-put event at the Penn relays last week, is the Missouri weight star. Richerson shoved the ball 46 feet 2 1-2 inches at the Penn games.

Other events on the University of Nebraska track program are a dual meet with Drake here May 12, a triangular meet with Kansas and Kansas Aggies at Manhattan, May 7, and the Missouri Valley conference meet here, May 21 and 22.

STADIUM CINDERS.

Locke's performance of stepping 100 yards in 9 5-10 seconds is the greatest feat ever turned by a Nebraska track athlete. While the record probably will not be allowed by the A. A. U. or national intercollegiate association, veteran track coaches and scribes expressed their convictions that in the near future Locke would duplicate the time when given better weather conditions.

The Drake stadium track Saturday was soggy and the air chilly and damp. Some idea as to the condition of the track may be gained from the fact that time used in marking the lanes was soon lost in the cinders, the later events on the program being staged without the sign of a chalk mark for lanes.

Charley Hoff, Norwegian pole vaulter, is not in the exhibition business for his health, according to the opinion of newspaper men present at the Drake meet. Hoff and his manager, although possibly not as greedy as Nurmi and his advance agent, seldom overlook a bet to gather in what serious money there is loose.

A Des Moines scribe suggested that it might be an aid to Drake relays and Hoff publicity if the Norwegian vaulter would serve as "sport editor" for a day. The Iowa scribe agreed to do all the work and give Charley all the glory. Hoff gave his personal consent at the Kansas relays, relates the scribe, but when the party reached Des Moines, Charley's manager informed the newspaper that Hoff's services as editor were valued at $200.

Movie men gave Hoff the laugh at the Drake games. Charley is camera shy and refuses to vault with movie men around. The movie men Saturday "planted" cameras in the stands and used telescopic lenses to get "close-ups" of the dark-haired Norwegian.

Hoff did his stuff in regular circus style. He starts about 11 feet 6 inches and clears the rod without removing his sweat suit.

The bar is raised to 12 feet and Charley takes off his sweat pants and leaps over with a foot or more to spare. Then the bar is hoisted to 13 feet and off comes the sweat shirt. Hoff simply goes over.

Announcer Ted Canty megaphoned to the crowd Saturday that the bar was at 14 feet, a new world record. The crowd was on edge. Charley grabbed his trusty pole and, accompanied by the wild gesticulations of his manager, moved back toward the end of the runway. He started down the lane and, with an easy swing, cleared the rod with inches to spare. The crowd cheered and Hoff waved in recognition.

After the assemblage had settled back in the realization that the afternoon had furnished two world-record breaking performances, Announcer Canty lifted his megaphone again. This time it was to inform the crowd that there was considerable sag in the rod and that the vault was really 13 feet 9 inches.

Charley then took three hurried tries at an official 14 feet, brushing off the bar each time.

Some time when Hoff is in the mood he will break the record, but for the present—well, there was no sag in the rod when Locke ran the century in 9.5.

That last jump jinx has been hanging on the trail of Bobbie Stephens, Nebraska broad-jumper. At the Kansas relays, Stephens was leading the field until Wallace of Illinois took his final leap. The jump landed Wallace in first place and gave Stephens second medal. Wallace duplicated the performance at Drake.

ENTRIES OUT FOR STATE HI MEET

Youthful Tracksters Booked To Perform Two Days On Stadium Oval.

Official entry blanks for the twenty-fourth annual track and field meet of the Nebraska High School Athletic association have been mailed to high schools of the state.

The annual championships will be held at the state university Memorial stadium in Lincoln May 7 and 8 and entry blanks must be mailed to Acting Athletic Director H. D. Gish not later than April 29.

There will be three distinct championships in the meet this year, team and individual trophies for each group being awarded. Group one will comprise all eligible high schools that have an enrollment for this year of under 150. Group two will consist of all eligible schools with an enrolment between 150 and 300. Group three will consist of all eligible schools with an enrolment above 300 for the school year.

Points for Four Places.

Four men will be placed in each event, including the relay. Points will score 5 for first, 3 for second, 2 for third, and 1 for fourth.

Each school may actually compete three men in each event, but may enter four men in each event.

The rules this year provide that no contestant may compete in more than two track events, excluding the relay. No limit is placed on the number of field events in which a contestant may compete.

Two-Day Program.

The championships will be a two-day meet. Preliminaries will be held Friday, May 7, at 2 p. m. The Friday program will include the 100, 220 and 440-yard dashes, and possibly the 880-yard run and all field events. Track events will be eliminated to eight men in the Friday preliminaries, so that only the finals will be held Saturday. Field event entries will be limited to five men in each event.

In each group championship there will be medals for first, second and third places in each event. Special medals will be awarded for each event, called "Event Championship" medals. These medals will be awarded to the men who make the highest grade performance in each event, regardless of the group in which they compete.

Special Trophies.

In each group championship, special trophies will be awarded the team that places first. Banners will be awarded the second and third place teams in each group.

The relay team making the fastest time will be awarded a special relay trophy. The winning relay teams of the other two groups will receive banners.

Chicago Bruins Use Squeeze To Defeat Pirates

CHICAGO, April 26—(AP)—A perfectly executed squeeze play with the score tied in the eighth enabled Chicago to defeat the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates in their first Chicago appearance since the world's series, 4 to 3. Wilson opened the inning with a double, was sacrificed to third and Grimm then grounded out to score Wilson and the deciding run. Score by innings: R H E

High Tracksters At Havelock Tuesday

Coach Walter I. Black of Havelock high school announced today that the invitation track meet arranged for last Friday, but postponed on account of rain, will be staged Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 at Ballard field, Havelock. Nine high schools of southeastern Nebraska will compete.

Links vs. Indians in Lid-Lifting Diamond Clash

ROUND OUT TRIP WITH A VICTORY

Links Grabbed Odd Game Of Series With Izzies At Wichita.

Achenbach Hurled Six-Hit Game and Links Rapped Out 14 Blows.

WICHITA, Kas., April 26.—Dutch Zwilling and his Links were a chipper outfit when they pulled away from Wichita Sunday night, heading for Lincoln to open their home season Tuesday afternoon. The Zwillings came here a few days ago as tail-enders in the Western league race, dropped the first game and then proceeded to appropriate two victories, rounding out the series with a 7 to 5 triumph and looking like first division contenders for the Dale Gear flag.

Critics in the Isbell camp, basing their judgment on the Sunday proceedings, are disposed to give the Links a much higher rating than the present league percentages might suggest.

As a matter of fact, Dutch and his athletes looked like potential pennant-winners yesterday. Stanley Achenbach, southpaw, hurled a six-hit game for the Links and his teammates gave him flawless support. Meantime, the Links added fat to their batting averages to the extent of 14 hits. Bill Mills and Strawberry Bliss did the most potent slugging for the Zwillings, each poking the pellet for three safe knocks.

Links Win In Seventh.

The ball game was won and lost in the seventh, when the Links peeled off three runs and clinched the victory. Mills led off with a two-sacker, his third hit of the afternoon, and Manager Dutch beat out an infield hit. Bliss and Gunther were suppressed on infield flies, but a run came over when Mills and the manager worked a perfect double steal. This achievement rattled Mitchell, Wichita shortstop, who muffed Haley's high fly and Zwilling cantered home with another marker. Gottleber followed with a thump for two bases and Haley skipped in with the third run.

Achenbach held the Izzies hitless and runless during the four final innings and the support he was given was on a par with his pitching. The score:

Church Leaguers To Meet Tonight

Officials of the Y. M. C. A. Church baseball league will meet tonight at 7:30 at the local "Y" to approve a schedule and handle other preliminaries in connection with the inauguration of the pennant race next week. Fourteen church teams have filed entries.

Ten Schools In High Pentathlon

Ten schools have forwarded high school pentathlon reports to Coach Henry F. Schulte at the University of Nebraska according to announcement made Monday morning. Additional entries are expected, the result being announced late this week.

Schools enrolled are Grand Island, Gothenburg, Albion, DuBois, West Point, Harvard, Havelock, Tekamah, DeWitt and Allen.

Beg Pardon!

The sports department of The Sunday Star published the picture of "Bill" Mills, the Links' new second-sacker, and erroneously labeled it "Casey." Apologies to Mills and readers are in order.

Incidentally, this Mills fellow appears to be real goods. He came through with two singles and a double Sunday at Wichita, his two-sacker setting up the pins for a scoring streak in the seventh inning which won the ball game for Dutch Zwilling's athletes.

Indians Tie Knot In Winning Streak By Denver's Bears

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., April 26—(AP)—The Indians pounded out a 6 to 4 victory over Denver in the final game of the series yesterday. Funk's home run inside the park in the fourth and the batting of Armstrong and Felber featured. The score:

String of Errors By Oilers Makes It Easy for Rods

TULSA, Okla., April 26.—The Oilers had a weird day in the field yesterday, perpetrating seven errors and dropping the odd game of the series to Omaha, 16 to 8. Yellowhorse, Indian pitcher for the Burch Rods, hurled the full nine innings, while Tesar and Grant toiled for Tulsa. Henry, Omaha first baseman, clouted four hits. The score:

High Tennis Meet Will Start May 7

The third annual Nebraska interscholastic tennis championships which will be held at the University of Nebraska next month will be a two-day affair. Play is scheduled to start Friday at 1 p. m., drawings being made in the morning.

Each school will be permitted to enter four men in the singles and two teams in the doubles, but only two men in the singles and one team in the doubles will be allowed to actually compete.

The official N. H. S. A. A. athletic trophy banner will be awarded to the winners of the singles and doubles divisions.

HARMONY HIDING OUT ON 'CONNIE'

Mack's Outfit, Reports Say, Split Into Factions and Playing Dumb Game.

Kid Gleason's Tactics Not Getting Anywhere; Club in the Cellar.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(I. N. S.)—From sources close to the outfit, it was learned today that all is far from well within the ranks of the Philadelphia Athletics and that the possibility of a showdown is imminent.

Kid Gleason, hired to put vim, vigor and vanilla in the ball club in the capacity of overseer, has not found conditions altogether harmonious and is said to have incurred the displeasure of Connie Mack.

Those who have followed the team declare that its head is down, which may be taking a lot for granted, at that. Some carping critics seem to feel that to speak of heads in connection with the Athletics is like discussing orchids with a fishmonger.

Down In Last Place.

The Athletics were one of the two clubs that caught the popular fancy of the pre-season handicappers. The other was the Pittsburgh Pirates and it may be worthy of mention that both are in last place in their respective leagues today. The Pirates simply aren't hitting, but they will. However, the Athletics problem is not so simple of solution.

The writer does not know from personal observation that Kid Gleason was absent from Shibe Park during several games of the important series with the Senators, but this was common gossip around Philadelphia. There was no official statement made in connection with the incident and the assumption was that Gleason had found his new position not altogether admirable. The Kid is rather quick on the trigger.

Nobody Home.

The Athletics, on the other hand, earned the reputation of being a bit muscular around the ears last year and some of their performances this season have been enough to prompt Connie and the Kid to do a dual dive into an empty bath tub. One of the recent Washington games serves as an excellent example.

Twice Galloway and Bishop failed to cover second base. Once Cochrane, failed even to get his glove on a foul fly that fell not more than twenty-five feet from the plate.

Two-Bagger Wasted.

Late in the game, with the Athletics trailing three runs, Simmons tried to score from first base on a double. He was thrown out, as he richly deserved to be.

As a matter of fact, the Athletics have looked the part of pennant contenders on only two occasions this year. Both were in games pitched by Rommel, one being the fifteen-inning opener with Walter Johnson, and the other a sensational effort against the Senators in Philadelphia.

'PROFS' SOUR ON GRIDIRON SPORT

Educators Framing Scheme To Put College Football Out of Business.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 26.—Intercollegiate football is condemned as conducive to drinking, gambling and dishonesty among students and neglect of their work by a committee of the American association of university professors.

The report of the committee on methods of increasing the intellectual interests and raising the intellectual standards of undergraduates is published in the association's April bulletin.

The committee favors limitation of student participation in intercollegiate football to one year or the adoption of faculty coaching systems, conducted by men of "character and personal influence."

While football is a good sport, the report says, "in its present excess, it has demoralized student bodies."

The committee is headed by Prof. Ernest W. Wilkins of the University of Chicago. The committee recommends that representatives from various colleges form a committee with a view to adopting a general plan which may be put in operation before the opening of the football season next fall.

Red Sox Rally In Tenth; Win From Senators

WASHINGTON, April 26—(AP)—Four runs in the tenth inning while Washington was scoring two gave Boston an 8 to 6 victory over the Senators yesterday in their first encounter. Rosenthal put his team in the lead in the eighth with a home run, scoring a man ahead of him, but Washington tied the count at 4-all in the eighth. In the extra inning Boston used two doubles, a triple, a hit batsman and a walk for the winning margin. Score by innings: R H E

Lincoln Fandom Keyed Up For Baseball Inaugural

Links and Indians Face Barrier Tuesday at 3:30 At Landis Field: Cooper and Carson Slated to Toil On the Mound; Links Look Good in Final Road Series at Wichita Park.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Spick and span in creamy white uniforms, just out of Mr. Spalding's factory, Dutch Zwilling and his Links will step out on the Landis Field diamond Tuesday afternoon at 3:30, colliding with the Oklahoma City Indians in the local inaugural of the 1926 season in the Western league.

The baseball situation in Lincoln apparently is nicely set up for a propitious start of the flag campaign in the Dale Gear circuit. In the first place, the weather bureau has promulgated a forecast of a mild, balmy spring day—a promise which makes a delightful noise to Lincoln fans, who can't forget the arctic blasts which made the opening day games of the past two years so utterly abominable.

Links Perk Up at Wichita.

The weather phase, however, is a secondary consideration. Fandom's chief interest is in the ball club, which, after a discouraging start of the first road trip, rounded out its junket with two victories in a three-game series at Wichita and looked like the pennant contending team that Manager Zwilling had hoped and schemed to assemble. Lincoln fans it must be confessed, were in the dumps most of last week, but the successful series in Wichita has brightened the situation and the sudden revival of enthusiasm points to a stand-jamming attendance when the gates swing open and the turnstiles begin clicking for the Tuesday opener.

Opening Day Program.

Arrangements have been pronounced complete for the opening day festivities. League President Dale D. Gear of Topeka, the players of the Oklahoma City and Lincoln club, Governor Adam McMullen, Mayor Frank C. Zehrung, members of the city council and the presidents of six local civic clubs will be the special guests of honor at chamber of commerce noon luncheon. The parade, headed by a band, will depart at 2 p. m. from the chamber clubhouse, moving by automobile through the business district to Landis Field.

Cooper vs. Carson.

Nomination of Clay Carson, former Lincoln southpaw, to pitch for Oklahoma City in the opening day game was announced today by Manager Fred Luderus in a telegram to The Star. Carson, whose purchase from the Coast league Missions by the Oklahoma City club was negotiated last week, arrived in Lincoln Saturday. Having had a full season of spring training with the Missions, Carson is reputed to be in perfect physical fettle and in complete readiness to tackle the task of defeating his former teammates.

Dutch Back In Game.

Against Cooper, Manager Dutch Zwilling will pit his veteran righthander, Guy Cooper, whose pitching at St. Joseph last Wednesday had the class to turn back the league-leading Saints for their first defeat of the season. Kelly Wales will be Cooper's receiver back of the plate.

Manager Dutch, after a week's layoff while resting a leg injury, will be treading clover in the middle garden and the Links therefore will be in position to present their strongest front in the lid-lifting battle.

Realtors Get Busy.

The 175 members of the Lincoln Real Estate board are preparing to attend the Tuesday festivities in a body. The realty dealers appointed a special committee on ticket sale, members of which have declared they will not be satisfied with anything less than 100 percent attendance Tuesday afternoon. The realtors are to meet at board head quarters, 132 North Twelfth street at 1:30 Tuesday afternoon, intending to fall in line with the automobile parade from the chamber of commerce.

Special Session Local Amateurs

Although the required number of six teams had failed to file the required entrance fee of $25 at the noon hour today, President Howard Barrett of the Lincoln Amateur Baseball association announced that the Monday night meeting would be held at the chamber of commerce, as arranged last week. An effort will be made at the evening session to round out the entry list, getting a sufficient number of teams to launch a pennant race early in June.

After holding the national court tennis championship for 20 years, Jay Gould of Philadelphia defaults because of an attack of influenza. He won the American championship at the age of 17 and the world's championship at 18. C. Suydan Cutting, of New York City, is the new amateur titleholder.

Pimply? Well, Don't Be

People Notice It. Drive Them Off with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c and 30c.—Advertisement.

When You Catch Cold Rub on Musterole

Musterole is easy to apply with the fingers and works right away. Often it prevents a cold from turning into "flu" or pneumonia. It does all the good work of grandmother's mustard plaster without the blister.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made of oil of mustard and other home simples. It is recommended by many doctors and nurses. Try Musterole for sore throat, cold on the chest, rheumatism, lumbago, pleurisy, stiff neck, bronchitis, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back and joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of all sorts.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., April 26.

Shrinking of the premium for May delivery of wheat as compared with July was an outstanding feature today in the wheat market here, May at one time being only 19c over July, as against a recent difference of 20 cents. Further prospective shipments of wheat from Kansas City to Chicago for delivery on May contracts was the reason for weakness of May. On the other hand, commission house buying lifted the price of July and september, owing more or less to messages from the northwest and from parts of Nebraska and Kansas indicating need of moisture.

Wheat closed nervous, ⅝ to 2½c net higher, corn unchanged to ⅛c off and oats unchanged to ⅜c down.

WHEAT—Influenced by unexpected strength of wheat quotations at Liverpool the wheat market here averaged higher today in the early dealings, sales to realize profits, however, increased on the upturns, causing the market to react, the May delivery in particular. Cold weather in Canada with consequent delay to seeding of the spring crop there attracted considerable notice, estimates being that only 10 per cent of the acreage has yet been seeded. Chicago opening prices, unchanged to 1c higher, May (new), $1.62¾@1.63¼ and July $1.42½@1.42¾, were followed by numerous irregular changes with May showing a tendency to sag.

CORN—Corn and oats were easier in the absence of any aggressive buying, especially corn. After opening unchanged to ⅝c up, July 77⅜c, the corn market receded all around to well below Saturday's finish.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to a shade higher, July 42c; later fractional losses became general.

PROVISIONS—In line with hog values the provision market turned down grade.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 26.

A sustained demand for the railroad shares, contrasted with sporadic profit taking and bear selling of the industrials in today's irregular stock market. Trading slowed up in volume. Publication of the general Motor's quarterly report, showing earnings of $7.56 a share, was followed by the traditional "selling on the good news," with Hudson bearing the brunt of the selling pressure in that group.

Several of the motors fell back 2 to 3 points before sufficient buying support was forthcoming to stem the tide of selling. In view of the rapidity of last week's advance, today selling movement in the industrials was not unexpected. Renewed weakness developed in the Armour issues on expectations of a poor quarterly report and speculative fears for the safety of the dividend and A stock breaking three points to 15⅝. American Woolen and New York Canners also were heavily sold. Bullish demonstrations were conducted, however, in a few specialties, Freeport Texas standing out by moving up nearly 3 points to a new high at 32½; General Railway Signal, Gimbel Brothers, Electric Power and Light and Montana Power also displayed a strong undertone. Atlantic Coast Line converted an early loss of 4 points into a gain of 2 points and a strong investment demand was noted for some of the other high grade dividend payers in the carrier group.

Scattered profit taking induced by last week's rapid advance unsettled the stock market as trading was resumed today. General Electric broke 5 points and Hudson Motors, which was again subjected to bear attacks, yielded 2 points. Despite the announcement of record breaking earnings in the first quarter, General Motors also joined the downward movement of the automobile shares at the opening.

Speculative activities became more uneven as trading progressed, with constructive operations successfully conducted in investment rail shares despite increasing pressure against leading industrials and specialties. Atchison led the upward movement of the carriers, gaining 3 points on reports of heavy traffic and satisfactory conditions, in its territory, while early advances of 1 to 2 points were recorded by New York Central, Louisville & Nashville, Chesapeake & Ohio, Baltimore & Ohio, Reading, Nickel Plate and Frisco. The industrial group generally followed a downward course with marked heaviness cropping out in Woolworth, Allied Chemical, Radio and Pan-American "B." R. H. Macy developed independent strength.

Foreign exchanges opened steady with Sterling holding at $4.86 and Belgian francs slightly higher at 3.59 cents.

The closing was easy. Sales approximated 1,500,000 shares.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, April 26.

SUGAR—Raw sugar prices were unchanged early today at 4.14c duty paid. No sales were reported.

Raw Sugar futures were firmer on covering and a little outside demand, promoted by the steadiness of the spot market and expectations that the proposed reduction in the present Cuban crop and in ne w plantings would be officially adopted at today's session of the Cuban congress. Prices at midday were one to six points net higher.

A better inquiry was reported for refined sugar, with prices unchanged at 5.15 to 5.60 for fine granulated.

Sugar futures closed steady; approximate sales 58,000 tons; May, 2.49c; July, 2.60c; September, 2.72c; December, 2.83c; January, 2.84c.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.
OMAHA, Neb., April 26.

CATTLE—Receipts, 5,500. Under the influence of liberal supplies, both here and at other markets, steers and yearlings were slow and steady to 10 to 15c lower. An early top of $9.50 was paid for part of a load of handyweight steers. She stock was scarce and held about steady. Stockers and feeders ruled fairly active, and fully steady, best bringing $8.50@8.75.

Closing: Fed steers and yearlings slow, steady to weak; bulk, $8.25@9.25; several loads held higher; she stock steady; bulls, strong; veals, strong to 50c higher; stockers and feeders fully steady; bulk butcher cows, $5.75@7.00; heifers, $7.56@8.59; canners and cutters, $4.00@4.75; bologna bulls, $5.75@6.35; practically top $9.00; stockers and feeders, $7.00@8.50.

HOGS—Receipts, 14,500. Fairly light supplies both locally and elsewhere resulted in a sharp drop in prices all along the line. Both lights and butcher grades sold slowly at losses of 25 to 50c. Bulk of sales was at $11.60@12.50; top, $12.65.

Closing: Light hogs most 25 to 40c lower; spots more; butchers fairly active, 15 to 25c lower; 160-200 pound lights, $12.50@12.65; top $12.70; bulk 200-225 pound butchers, $12.25@12.50; bulk, 250-290 pound butchers, $12.00@12.25; heavies on down to $11.75; packing sows, $10.25@10.75; bulk of all sales, $11.75@12.50; average cost Saturday, $12.24; weight, 276; average cost for week ending April 24, $12.00; weight 270.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, April 26.—(AP)—Daylight saving went into effect on the board of trade here today. Clocks of the grain exchange were advanced one hour.

New Argentina corn, offered for immediate shipment, is moving freely. Stocks at the seaboard are increasing and supplies in the interior are abundant, say reports.

The last week was warm and mostly dry in the spring wheat territory, said the Chicago & Northwestern report. It is believed there is sufficient moisture in the ground to germinate the grain but South Dakota, western Minnesota and western Nebraska will require opportune rainfall during the growing season.

From Pana, Ill., comes the report that the stand of wheat is more uniform than farther west. The rain which fell the last of the week will bring an improvement. A good stand of early oats is showing up.

NEW YORK, April 26.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes:

Wheat decreased 1,311,000.
Corn decreased 491,000.
Oats decreased 1,001,000.
Rye increased 277,000.
Barley decreased 211,000.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla.—(AP)—Malcolm Wright, superintendent of the Michigan Central railroad, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James J. Findlay, here late Saturday night. Wright came to Oklahoma City in an effort to regain his health. The funeral party left Oklahoma City for Wright's home in Detroit Sunday afternoon. Funeral services will be held held there Wednesday.

ELLSWORTH, Wis. —(AP)—Although nearly 100 persons, mostly from Minnesota towns, called at a local undertaking parlor Sunday, none was able to identify the body of the woman found in Lake Pepin, ten miles from here, last Friday. Police of Red Wing, Minn., who have been searching for a woman who disappeared some time ago from that city, came here Sunday, but they could not identify her.

SIOUX FALLS, S. D.—(AP)—Prayers for rain marked the beginning of the forty hours devotion service at St. Joseph's Catholic cathedral here with solemn high mass Sunday. Special and continuous prayers to God for rain and for protection of farm crops will continue for forty hours to seek relief from the dryness this spring. Only .04 of an inch rain has fallen this month.

NEW YORK—(AP)—A new check of unfit and dangerous automobile drivers was instituted Sunday when the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters announced that henceforth insurance would not be issued to persons whose licenses had been revoked.

CLAIMS ITALY PREPARING.

LONDON, April 26.—(AP)—The Chiasso (Switzerland) Correspondent to the Daily Herald, claims to be able to authoritatively confirm the report that the Italian war office is busily engaged in military preparations. The correspondent understands that urgent instructions have been issued to the army staff to have things ready for mobilization if necessary.

GRAIN MARKETS.

Prices of wheat for future delivery had a moderate setback last week, interrupting an advance which had been under way intermittently since the first of the month, says the Kansas City Star. An increased movement of wheat to Chicago for delivery on May contracts, a period of good growing weather for the new winter crop and a less active foreign demand accounted chiefly for the selling. Corn futures moved narrowly and showed only slight changes for the week.

Closing wheat prices yesterday were a little above the low level. May deliveries were down about 6 to 7 cents for the week and the new crop months were generally 2 to 2½ cents lower. Early in the week the market showed a tendency to continue the advance and was up about 1 to 2½ cents at one time, but held the gains only a short time.

Winnipeg showed independent strength for a while, due to export buying, but turned down later with other markets and ended the week with losses of 2 to 4 cents.

Liverpool futures yesterday were 5-8 to 2 1-4 pence higher for the week, though cables from Liverpool yesterday reported a let-up in European buying.

Wheat Moving To Chicago.

The May delivery situation at Chicago continued the most interesting feature of the market. Shorts last week found conditions a little more to their advantage, but the Chicago market nevertheless remained relatively higher than other western terminals and wheat started to move to the Illinois center in anticipation of delivery day. Moderate amounts were sold for that purpose at Kansas City and additional quantities were worked from Omaha, Minneapolis and Duluth.

This is not the first time that Chicago has worked itself over other markets as the end of the season approached. Four years ago a veritable flood of wheat was poured into Chicago, generally estimated at 4½ to 5 million bushels, of which about 1½ million went direct from Kansas City.

Opinions on the future course of the market are decidedly confused. The crop situation is irregular, as is always the case at this time of year; the winter wheat outlook is excellent west of the Missouri river, but only fair east. First reports from the spring wheat sections, both in this country and Canada, have been somewhat disappointing, due to insufficient rainfall and delayed seeding and planting. Export buying has been on an enlarged scale for several weeks and has directed attention to the possibility of a shortage before another harvest though there has been no sign of a shortage thus far, except that created by technical conditions at Chicago, where stocks of contract wheat available for May delivery are small.

Varied Crop Outlook.

Mild temperatures prevailed in most of the grain area last week and winter wheat made good progress. Moderate showers fell in parts of Nebraska where moisture was needed. The condition continues excellent in Oklahoma, Texas, Western Missouri and most of Kansas. In Northwestern Kansas and a large part of Nebraska there has not been as much rainfall as desired. In the eastern part of the belt the crop did not come through the winter as well as in the western and southwestern parts and is not as promising, but is making fairly good progress. The season is early in the extreme southwest, and it is said that cutting may start in parts of Texas within three weeks or so.

Seeding of spring wheat made good progress last week, but germination was reported slow on account of the deficiency of moisture in the Dakotas. This is not an unusual condition. That section generally gets good rains in May.

Some New Wheat Export Sales.

Export sales in all positions were estimated at 5 to 6 million bushels, mostly Canadian, a substantial decrease from the 10 million bushels reported the preceding week, but well above the average of the past month or so. England and most of the continental importers were in the market.

A fair inquiry for new crop wheat was in evidence at the Gulf and sales of a few loads a day were confirmed. Holland was in the market at one time, but other buyers were not revealed. Most of the demand was for second half of July and first half of August loading. Local dealers participated in some of the business, but most of them said the market was too much of a speculative affair at present to be attractive.

Exports of wheat and flour from the United States and Canada last week, as reported by Bradstreet's, were only a little more than 4 million bushels, 1 1-4 million less than in the preceding week, and 2 1-4 million less than in the corresponding week a year ago.

Argentine exported a little less than 3½ million bushels of wheat last week, a small decrease from the preceding week and about the same as a year ago.

Exports of wheat from Russia were fairly liberal, nearly 3-4 million bushels.

Larger Receipts Than Last Year.

A substantial increase in receipts were attributed chiefly to the recent advance in prices. The fact that the new crop outlook is good may also have been a factor in encouraging marketing in the southwest. The five principal markets received a total of 2,205 cars, an increase of 37 per cent over the preceding week and 70 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago there was an increase of 31 per cent.

An improved demand for the ordinary grades features the carlot wheat trade. Most of the buying was by mills that needed the wheat for mixing. Compared with a week ago, hard and dark wheat yesterday were 2 to 9 cents lower with most prices 6 to 8 cents lower, and red was 6 to 7 cents lower.

Premium basis in Kansas City was 2 to 3 cents lower for the week, with the greatest decline on high protein wheat.

Corn futures closed yesterday with losses of 1 1-4 to 1 3-4 cents for the week. The market covered a range of 2 to 2 5-8 cents.

Corn planting made fair progress but the season is a little late in most sections, particularly the eastern and central states. Planting has started as far north as Missouri.

Receipts of corn at the four principal markets last week totaled 1,277 cars, an increase of 21 per cent over the preceding week and 55 per cent more than a year ago. Compared with two years ago there was a decrease of 37 per cent.

Demand for carlot offerings was moderate. Prices yesterday were unchanged to 2 cents lower, compared with a week ago. Quotations ranged from 63 to 71 cents.

tions, began its sessions here today.

Its duty is to prepare the program for an international economic conference at which it is hoped to lay down economic principles which will be helpful to a solution of the world's economic difficulties just as the principles formulated at the Brussels financial conference have successfully guided the financial reconstruction.

The preliminary conference comprises some forty men, experienced in industry, commerce and agriculture. They are attending in the personal capacity and not as the representatives of governments. The Americans include former Secretary of Agriculture David Houston, Arthur W. Gilbert of Boston, and Prof. Allyn A. Young of Harvard.

Former President Ador of Switzerland, was elected chairman at the organization meeting this morning.

received from Finance Minister Peret assurances that, without prejdice to the forthcoming negotiations, France undertook to make an unconditional payment of this sum. He paid tribute to this action.

Mr. Churchill presented the second budget of his chancellorship and gave account of his stewardship of England's monies before a crowded, anxious house and galleries packed with eager listeners

He faced one of the most trying problems any chancellor could encounter, for the clouds of the coal controversy hung black, and any set of figures he could muster must be dependent upon the outcome of this imbroglio, since stoppage of coal production would disorganize industry and make chaos of his financial estimates.

Facing Big Deficit.

The budget, while springing no big surprises, owing to the newspaper forecasts, was full of unusual proposals. On the basis of the existing taxation, he was facing a deficit for the year of roughly eight million pounds, with receipts of 804,700,000 pounds and expenditure of 812,641,000 pounds.

On that basis, the outlook was bleak, he admitted, but with that dexterity for which he is famous, he pulled himself out of this financial hole by his bootlaces and by ingenious measures turned the deficit into a prospective surplus of 14,150,000 pounds.

Out of the paper surplus of 14,-150,000 pounds Mr. Churchill proposes to pay an additional 10,000,-000 pounds into the sinking fund, leaving an estimated surplus of 4,150,000 pounds for contingencies.

Adjusting Differences.

WASHINGTON, April 26.— (By the Associated Press.)—While Ambassador Berenger and the American debt commission are busy this week with efforts to adjust the differences between the American and French viewpoints on settlement of the latter nation's $4,000,000,000 war debt, swift progress in disposing of other settlements already before the senate is in prospect.

The Belgian agreement had right of way in the senate, with the Rumanian, Latvian, Esthonian and Czecho-Slovakian funding pacts to follow. Some opposition to the Belgian agreement has been expressed because of the liberal terms and special treatment accorded the nation, but favorable action is expected in a few days.

Commission Optimistic.

The debt commission already has made a study of the Berenger offer in comparison with the best proposal advanced last summer by the Caillaux mission and has found basis for optimism in the new plan.

Points of differences that are likely to be given serious consideration lie in the apparent insistence, despite the elimination of the "safe guard clause," of definitely hooking up the debt payments with German reparations in modified form, and in the suggestion that payments with German reparations in modified form, and in the suggestion that payments begin at $25,-000,000 a year instead of $40,000,000 as proposed by M. Caillaux. Other features, however, have proved pleasing to the Americans and a showdown is expected before the week ends.

County Attorney Intercedes For Five Defendants

State Welfare Secretary Frost is unable to understand the action of County Attorney R. D. Flory in Boone county last week, who, after filing complaints against six druggists for illegal practice of pharmacy, upon evidence obtained by Special Agent A. G. Anderson of the welfare department, interceded on behalf of five of them and persuaded the magistrate before whom they had all pleaded guilty to return the fine of $10 which each had paid.

The only fine allowed to stand was that assessed upon Howard McClintick of Albion. All the defendants got back their $10 contributions, the judge retaining what they had paid besides to cover costs. They were Ed Farnsworth and George Orshek of Boone, Mowery Motto and George Bruner of Loretto, and Albert Pross of Bradish.

The charge against each druggist was selling drugs and poisons without having a registered pharmacist in charge.

NEW CALCUTTA CLASH.

CALCUTTA, April 26.—(AP)—Five Mohammedans and one Hindu were stabbed to death today in a renewal of rioting between Mohammedans and Hindus which has been occurring sporadically during the past few days. Two of those injured in yesterday's fighting died today. Practically all the shops in the Indian business quarters have been shut.

HAY MARKET REVIEW.

Inquiry for hay east of the Rockies continued active during the past week with moderate offerings moving at steady prices, except in the southwest, the United States department of agriculture reported in its weekly hay market review. Good hay was scarce and wanted at most markets, while ordinary hay met fair inquiry.

Timothy rules firm at most markets but lower grades were irregular at Kansas City. Alfalfa averaged steady east of the Rockies but traders were taking for immediate needs only at Omaha. Prarie was barely steady.

WEATHER CONDITIONS

Except for light snow in the lower Lake region and light rain in New England states and in Florida, fair weather prevails throughout the country this morning. It is cool for the season throughout the eastern half of the country and in the lower Missouri valley and the southern plains, with frosts in Nebraska, Iowa, and Illinois. It is warmer than normal in the Rocky mountain states and westward to the Pacific coast.

That's just about what the Star Classified Section is to the old-fashioned haphazard collections of wants and offers which enterprising newspapers have relegated to the past.

The Star Classified Classified Section has the latest up-to-the-minute improvements. Through the service it renders, it has become a public utility. Through its perfect indexing and accurate classifying, it has become a veritable catalogue of opportunity. Through its wide circulation and unquestioned dependability, it has become a community necessity.

Don't think of it as a mere collection of "want ads." Read it regularly in the light of the opportunities it presents so easily and so quickly—and be sure to get your share!

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

One Solomon

Dear Minerva: Will you afford me a little space in your Mail to act as one solomon to "Wife and Mother?" I suppose there will be several.

My advice would be never separate those dear babies. If she has to make the sacrifice of parting with one of those dear babies let her make a greater sacrifice and part with both of them for the children's sake. Think what it will mean to those babies to part them! How they will miss each other! There is nothing more pitiful than a child raised alone. I can see my little boy now playing alone and talking to himself and so many times he says "Mamma, I do wish I had someone to play with: I am so lonesome."

It does not matter how good the grandmother is to the boy, she can't be a playmate and an old person cannot take the place of a child. Twins were never intended to be separated. They came into the world together and it surely was intended they should be raised together. SOLOMON.

A Pleasing Response.

Dear Minerva: Here is an argument submitted to you for settlement. I have formed the habit of answering "yes" over the telephone rather than the more customary "hello." My friend says that to answer the phone in this manner ,especially for a girl, does not show refinement. I say that "yes" is more refined than the more common "hello."

Please give me your opinion to settle this difference. WONDERING.

A. I wouldn't say it was a question of refinement or otherwise, but merely a matter of individual taste. I think "Yes" spoken quietly into the phone is a very pleasing response.

Dear Minerva: I am a frequent reader of your Mail and I find it very interesting. I have read several articles written by young girls concerning petting parties.

I am a girl sixteen years of age and have had a number of experiences in it myself. I believe in it to a certain extent. But just like everything else it is sometimes carried too far. Petting parties in my estimation demand a great deal on the girl. I admit there is a great kick in it but I don't believe in them so often as some girls go on them. I go on these petting parties about once a month and sometimes not that often. My girl friends go after public dances, which is about once a week. I am strongly opposed to that because it is so often.

It is almost forced upon a young person nowadays, because if you don't attend there, your girl friends and boys will call you old-fashioned and slow.

Minerva don't you think I have the right idea of these kind of parties? Hoping to see my letter in print. R. G.

A. Of course you hope "to see your letter in print," and probably you said to your chums as you penned and mailed the letter "Now just watch old Minerva rave over this."

I'm going to accommodate you too. The idea in your letter that moderation in petting is the only requirement made me think of the drinkers who boast that they "never get drunk," the gamblers who "know when to quit," etc. And I recall wistfully, the days of my own girlhood (not such a dizzy number of years ago either) when a kiss spelled romance and love, not always the kind of love that "took" but certainly love that was real and sincere enough for the time being.

The thought of young people deliberately setting out upon "petting parties," to exchange caresses for the "kick" therefrom is quite too revolting for verbal expression. Such "parties" are not only saturated with danger of physical and moral decay, but they are coarsening, depraving, making gross the finer sensibilities of the young people.

Get out in the sunshine, my dears. Let your amusements be wholesome, active, rollicking, jolly, not the slinking-into-corners, bestial sort of thing you give a catchy name such as a "petting party." Dance until you are weary, if you wish. Fling up your heels in an intricate Charleston, or glide through one fanciful fox-trot after another if you wish. Play tennis and basketball and baseball and romp and laugh and giggle. You are young and youth needs its fling. But let it be fun, not a sneakin' pilfering from sacred things; let it be recreation, not a defiling of the mind and body.

Need a Change.

Dear Minerva: When people tire of their manner of dress they change it. Why should this rule not hold good in the matter of discussions?

It seems to me the old themes, dancing and petting are becoming a bit draggy. Personally I do not believe in either one. But after all has been said and done our debating and argumentations have seemingly brought us no satisfactory results. The world in general is beginning to learn that it is better to teach children what to do than to tell them what not to do. Again, might we not apply the same rules to ourselves?

America, the foremost nation, is indeed in a pitiable condition, if it has no better amusements to offer its young people than these two things. Judging from your Mail there are some brilliant thinkers reading it. Let's hear what they have to say about some good, clean, peppy entertainment that will take the place of dancing and other objectionable sports. Youngsters (and adults as well) need some outlet for their pent-up zeal. Yours for pure fun, ARONEL.

A. I second the motion for new discussions.

The time has come when I play a little game all by myself with my letters. As I sort them, unopened, I lay in a pile (not such a small one either) those letters that I anticipate will contain some discussion of or allusion to the never-ending petting-dancing discussion. And, like the grocer-man, who with his habitually ingratiating smile and cautious touch can slice off a pound of cheese with one stroke of the knife or measure out two pounds of sugar with two sure swoops of his sugar shovel, I am pretty accurate in my guess.

Mysterious Sweetheart

Chapter III.

What Has Gone Before.

Carolita Menendez, a beautiful young Spanish girl, brought up in a South American convent, is traveling alone to Los Angeles at the command of her guardian whom she has never seen. During the last lap of her journey between Chicago and Los Angeles she wakes suddenly in the night and sees, clutching the curtains of the berth opposite, a white hand wearing a gorgeous and startling ruby. So astonishing is this apparition to her that she believes it must have been a dream caused by her excited condition of mind over the mystery of her birth, her future, and her unknown guardian. She steps into the aisle to investigate and meets Paul Reynolds, a young American whom she first met on the train after leaving New York and who changed his ticket in Chicago so that his berth would be next hers. Reynolds sends her back to bed, but in the morning they learn that a man has been found in one of the berths, apparently murdered. A gold chain broken in half is found about his neck and there is money in his pockets but no means of identification. The conductor questions the occupants of the car and it comes to light that Carolita made the journey from South America on the same steamer with the dead man. Two Salvation Army lasses and Reynolds are questioned and the latter says he is junior partner in a large New York law firm. He admits casual acquaintance with a Mr. and Mrs. Brown who left the train at the junction late in the evening. The conductor then asks Carolita to look at the dead man and at the sight of him she cries out in horror.

Dulce Corazon.

One second of suspense followed Carolita's wild revulsion from the sight of the dead man in lower one, and in that second Paul's arms had closed firmly about her, and his whisper, low but vibrant, had reached her.

"Don't tell about last night!"

Last night! His words brought back memory of her dream, the white hand with its glowing jewel, and again her consciousness throbbed with the vivid mental picture. A dream. No! A reality! But whose hand, and what part had it played in the death of her unwelcome steamer companion?

The conductor was not waiting for her mental adjustments, however. She must put aside her own reactions until his questions were answered.

"Now then," he said sternly, "where have you seen this man? Come clean with the truth, young lady, it will be best for you in the long run!"

"It is true. He was on the boat with me," she said simply, and saw Paul bite his lip. He did not want her to speak, but how could she avoid her questioner's insistence?

"What was his name?"

"I do not know."

"I am quite certain that you know more than you are willing to tell, young lady. You certainly showed genuine concern at seeing him lying dead!"

"I do tell you the truth!" Carolita retorted indignantly, stung to anger by this tone and insinuation. "It is true that I was overcome to see him dead. I have not before seen death! I have not liked the man. On the boat he did try to make me speak with him. I was most embarrassed. At last I must tell the captain in order that he shall annoy me no longer, for there was that about him which made me so afraid!" She shuddered at the very thought of her acquaintance with the man lying dead before her.

"Afraid of what?"

"I am not sure—I could not then explain to the captain, but I think—"

"You think what? Come now!"

"I think it was his eyes!" Her voice had dropped to a whisper, "they were so strange—so—what you call a spirit? One that has passed?"

"You mean a ghost?"

"Yes!"

The conductor studied her face in silence, and his manner was less abrupt as he said:

"The captain did not mention his name?"

"No."

"Have you a passenger list with you?"

"No."

"Who were your friends on the boat?"

"Only the captain and some old persons at his table. The sisters at the convent instructed I should speak to no one. I kept much to my cabin."

"Well," said the conductor, "that will do for the present."

"Then it will be best for us to go at once to breakfast," Adjutant Gabrielle said to Carolita. "Adjutant Joseph and I will wait while you dress," and Carolita obeyed. She was unnerved from her trying experience, her mind filled with vague but growing apprehension, and she wanted above all things to have a quiet talk with Paul Reynolds who would perhaps be able to explain what had happened in the car last night.

He had also been awake at the hour of her strange vision, she told herself. Why? What had he seen? His warning of silence had come just in time. For what purpose had he wished to conceal that midnight episode. What lay behind it? And what had a woman's hand been doing with the curtain of a berth where a man had been found dead? Hurriedly she dressed and went with the Salvationists into the dining car, and as she sat opposite them, her young face white and troubled, she ventured to ask:

"And what will now become of this dead traveller? How could he have died without anyone knowing it?"

"Dear child," Adjutant Gabrielle replied, "You must not worry about that. Possibly his dead body will be carried in the baggage car directly through to Los Angeles. Possibly it may be put off the train at some earlier station. At any rate it is not for us to arrange. It will be best for you to try to forget it all."

"But shall we be retained in Los Angeles? And what will people think? I cannot help being disturbed, Adjutant, it is all so strange and dreadful."

"I think that the conductor is making a great deal of commotion over something that will be quite naturally explained. There is every reason to suppose that this passenger has died a natural death. I shall think no more upon the subject, and I advise you to put it quite out of your mind." There was a finality in her tone that warned Carolita to change the subject, and the arrival of breakfast brought a happier thought, helped amazingly by the entrance of Paul Reynolds.

"Well, well," he said, as he sat down quite naturally beside Carolita, "we've found ourselves in a regular True Confessions situation, haven't we! Guess we'll have to turn detectives and fathom the mystery! I'm afraid this affair is rather outside your usual line of work, isn't it, Adjutant."

"Humanity is our work," Adjutant Gabrielle, who apparently was the spokeswoman for the couple, answered, "we have learned to meet many things with resignation."

"Miss Menendez," Paul went on, his mind jumping from the present to what might lie ahead, "our train is several hours late, and we shall arrive at Los Angeles about one o'clock tomorrow morning. I'm wondering if your people will meet you? Please excuse my intruding, but this unfortunate occurrence may make things a little embarrassing to those who were in our car. In case nobody comes for you what will you do?"

"Carolita will go with us, Mr. Reynolds," Adjutant Gabrielle replied. "No harm shall come to her."

"I understand that, Adjutant! But you have overlooked one thing, Carolita," the name came so naturally to his lips that he did not know he had spoken it aloud for the first time, "does not know her people. Should they by any chance fail to meet her at that late hour, should she take shelter with you, how will she ever find them? What means of identification can she ever establish?"

The girl turned startled eyes upon him.

"Oh!" she exclaimed, "Oh, I never thought of that—Oh!"

"I think that you will only distress this young girl by anticipating something that is not at all likely to occur," the Adjutant remarked. "Had I the responsibility of meeting a young woman I should not fail to stand all night by the train gate, watching. We may be certain that her coming is of great importance. Her friends will meet her!"

The two Salvationists now arose from their seats and Adjutant Gabrielle concluded: "I see that you have finished your breakfast. Will you come with us, my dear?"

"Stay with me!" Paul did not know what prompted him to detain her. It was something vague but insistent, a feeling of mistrust, alarm even, for the girl's safety. "Keep me company while I eat my American breakfast! Ham and eggs and oatmeal and toast for this hard working son of the U. S. A. Don't desert me."

He grinned at her boyishly, and very shyly she complied. There was something so substantial and trustworthy about him!

"I will come presently, Adjutant," she said, and there was a faint pleading in her voice. "Thank you!"

With a slight bow the two women moved quietly away, and Paul drew a sigh of relief.

"I never can feel at home with that formal looking uniform," he explained with a laugh, "now we can be by ourselves!"

"I am so glad," she smiled back timidly. "And I am so frightened, I cannot help it! Naturally the Salvationists do not fear or anticipate disaster. Their faith makes all things secure, but I am not good enough to be so calm in the face of peril! Something most terrible has occurred, Mr. Reynolds, and a great fear tells me it is my trouble. Can you explain to me why you whispered that I need not answer the conductor? Do you know anything which makes you believe that this man's death has some connection with myself?"

"My dear, the expression on your face when you were forced to look upon the dead man showed me that he was not unknown to you. I did not then, nor do I now know how he came into your life, but I am a lawyer, and in this country a person is innocent until proved guilty. I believe in you. I know that you have no connection of any kind with this death, but the fact that you know the man can't help involving you in some very disagreeable but necessary investigations. That was why I warned you, although it did no good as you made no attempt to keep your information from the conductor, and perhaps, after all, your frankness was just as well. There is one question, however, still in my mind. I believe that you have learned to trust me a little? May I go on?"

"Oh, yes!"

"Then tell me if you told the whole truth to the conductor, keeping nothing back?"

"I told the whole truth, indeed! So little it is, yet so much!"

"When this man tried to speak to you what did he say?"

"It was very little what he said, more his eyes that frightened me."

"Yes, but what did he say?"

She colored deeply, then with lowered lids replied:

"Two words in Spanish, Dulce Corazon."

"Dulce Corazon?" he repeated, "What does that mean?"

"In America it means—sweet heart!" Her lids were almost closed now, and Paul, studying the long lashes which swept her crimson cheek thought her more lovely than before.

"Look here," he said impulsively, "you're going to let me see something of you in Los Angeles, aren't you? I can't go out of your life after all this can I—" He stopped abruptly, fearing to say more than would be wise, and she raised her lids and looked at him again, shaking her head slowly.

"You go to Santa Barbara where your mother lives, it is not?" she asked, "while I—I know not where I go?"

"I'm getting off at Los Angeles," he said with sudden determination, adding with a laugh, "I guess there won't be much chance to do anything else, anyway, now that we've been caught in this mix up!" And then, becoming serious once more he said: "I'll give you my card. You can find me at Burns and Hyatts office, and Santa Barbara is sufficient address to reach me at my stepmother's."

"Thank you!" again the lowered fluttering lids, and Paul Reynolds, who had been such a very competent bachelor for the twenty-five years of his life, immune to the graces of countless fair ladies, certain that he would always be complete master of himself, capitulated then and there. And after all when you find the only girl in the world you have to put a fence around her, so to speak, whether on a Pullman or elsewhere!

"Carolita," his words came tensely, "I believe in you absolutely, I know you're all right, I admire and respect you, but there is one thing of which I am certain. You are not going among strangers without some mark of identification. There is something you are to wear or to do to make yourself known, isn't there? I want you to tell me what that is."

He had never seen her more startled, more dismayed. It was as if his words had precipitated a climax of terror.

"Oh!" she said very low, "how did you discover? Are you a seer? I was not to let anybody know! Not anybody at all!"

The porter's southern tones interrupted them: "Beg pahdon, sah, but de conductah say please sah, come back to de cyah, he done foun' a gen'man what knows suthin' impohtant about de daid man!"

Students In 600 Colleges Voting On Prohibition

PRINCETON, N. J., April 26.—(AP)—Louis Fox, president of the national student federal convention, representing men and women students at 400 colleges in America, Sunday announced that this organization had undertaken a poll of students on the question of prohibition.

Mr. Fox said that through the Harvard Liberal club a ballot was being sent to students at 600 institutions.

The ballot asks:

(1) Do you favor prohibition in its present form?

(2) Do you favor the repeal of laws relating to prohibition?

(3) Do you favor changes to allow the sale of light wines and beers?

(4) What are your reasons for opinion given?

Woman Burned to Death When Stove Explodes

NACOGDOCHES, Tex., April 26.—(AP)—Miss Florence Whitton burned to death here Sunday night when a fire caused by the explosion of an oil stove in her room, destroyed their apartment. Kate Whitton, her sister, was blown from the upper story by the blast and is near death.

DYING MAN SAYS CLARK CLAIMANTS ARE HIS CHILDREN

William Anderson Clark of Butte, Mont., Leaves Last Statement.

Women Claiming To Be Heirs of Late Senator Take "No Stock" In It.

BUTTE, Mont., April 26.—(By the Associated Press.)—Fuel was added to the flame of the pending suit over the will of the late Senator William Andrews Clark of Montana, here late Saturday night with the disclosure of the purported dying statement of one William Anderson Clark, who declared he was the father of three women who are seeking a share in the $50,000,000 estate as the copper magnate's "legitimate daughters."

The statement was released when the man died Saturday and avers that the late Montana senator was not the father of the three claimants—Mrs. Effie Clark McWilliams of Clarksdale, Mo., Mrs. Alma Clark Hines of Orrick, Mo., and Mrs. Addie Clark Miller of Denver.

Edward C. Hyde, chief counsel for the trio, declared in Kansas City, however, that he took "no stock" in the statement. The suit comes up in court here May 10. "The statement will not affect our suit," he said.

In the statement, William Anderson Clark said that he was born at Mechanicsville, Ind., in 1845, and went to Missouri twenty years later, teaching school at Savannah and Stewartsville. While in Missouri he married and the three claimants were born of this union. He left Missouri in 1879, going to Helena, Mont., where he married one Anna Pierce, an Illinois girl, whom he previously knew in Missouri. Of this marriage a large family was born and six children survive.

Silent On Early Life.

Members of his family Sunday night said Clark made the statement several days ago when he became ill, admonishing them, however, not to release it until after his death. They further declared that their father always has been silent on details of his early life. However, one member of the family declared that Clark "didn't run away from his Missouri wife, as we understand it." "They were parted and divorced," he continued "It might be difficult to prove that fact now, but this is my understanding of the matter."

The dead man was postmaster at South Butte in 1890, but in later years was in reduced circumstances, eking out a living as a huckster.

The late copper magnate is listed in who's who in America as being born near Connellsville, Pa., in 1839—six years before the former postmaster was born in Indiana. He is reported as teaching school in Missouri in 1859-60, going to Colorado in 1862 and coming to Montana in 1863. He married Kate L. Stauffer of Connellsville, Pa., in 1869, and four children were born. They are W. A. Clark, jr., and Mrs. Marius De Brabant of Los Angeles; C. W. Clark of Jerome, Ariz., and Mrs. L. R. Norris of White Plains, N. Y. He married Miss Anna E. Lachapelle in Butte in 1901—eight years after the death of his first wife. One daughter, Huguette Clark of Santa Barbara, Cal., was born of this marriage. The five are legatees of the will and contest the claims of the two Missouri and one Colorado woman.

When the suit was instituted here last February, Hyde declined to give out any details of the claims of his clients. However, former acquaintances of the Montana senator and William Anderson Clark, recalled widely varied incidents of the men's lives and several distant relatives expressed the opinion that he was not one and the same as the late Montana senator.

FAVOR EXPANDED SERVICE.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A house bill providing for expansion abroad of the service rendered by the department of tagriculture in acquiring and diffusing agricultural information has been ordered reported favorably by the senate agricultural committee. The measure provides that the agricultural commission men now representing the department in foreign countries shall be known as "agricultural attaches to the diplomatic missions of the United States. Their duties would include the acquisition of information regarding world competition and demand for agricultural products, production, mraketing and distribution in foreign countries.

USE LEMON IN MANICURING

Thousands use this method to keep the fingers and the nails a healthy, pretty color while helping to remove the cuticle in the easiest way.

Lemon is Nature's own bleach, absolutely harmless and effective. It combats the free alkali that soaps contain, removes all grime and dirt, all skin-stains.

Use the California lemon to soften the cuticle at the start and again just before the final polish.

Try it for ten days. See how much better your nails and fingers look—your entire hands, in fact—when you've trained them with the lemon.

Get a dozen California lemons now and keep them always handy in the house for this and other beauty uses.—Adv.

Women's Danger

Of offending under the oldest hygienic handicap now ended. New way provides true protection—discards like tissue

WITH the old-time "sanitary pad" women realize their constant danger of offense, plus the embarrassment of disposal. And thus spend unhappy days.

"KOTEX," a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops ALL danger of offending.

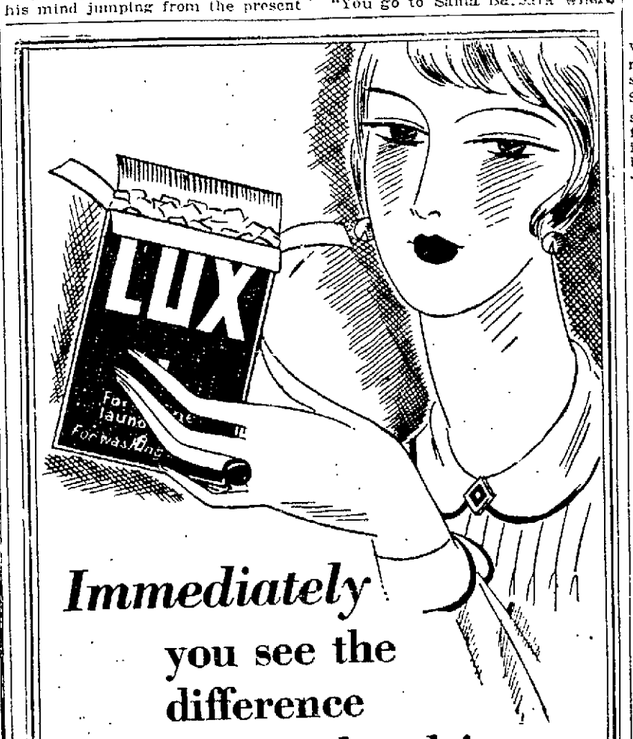

✔ Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

KOTEX

No laundry—discard like tissue

Immediately you see the difference in your hands!

KITCHEN SOAP in the dishpan makes hands red, rough, uncomfortable. Lux treats them as kindly as the finest toilet soap. For your protection Lux is sold only in the familiar blue packages plainly marked LUX—two sizes. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

GAS

What It Means to You

Gas is coal stripped for action

WOMEN no longer fill coal buckets, carry ashes, split kindling or soak corncobs in coal oil to do their cooking.

Neither do they carry buckets of water to do the washing, or use the tea kettle to heat water for the bath.

When you pay your gas bill you are paying for the elimination of all such drudgery.

If It Requires Heat You Can Do It Better With Gas
